Cuts Up To President

By M. H. McINTYRE

FINAL figure on the savings to be effected by the Navy the rest of the fiscal year under the economy drive of the Administration have been sent to the President.

How closely it approximates the twenty to thirty million dollar figure will not be known definitely until the White House makes an announcement.

Finishing touches on the reduction program are being made today, details of the Fleet reorganization perfected and a final decision being reached as to how great a cut in enlisted personnel will be possible with the withdrawal of the three battleships and other naval craft from active commission. A number of the older ships, particularly submarines, are to be withdrawn, some temporarily and some permanently.

While a substantial curtailment in operating plans and a subsequent saving of the funds appropriated was initiated by the Navy Department, the major cuts are due to the Presidential economy drive.

No official information as to the scope of the drastic cuts will be available until the White House gives the O. K. and it is possible that the statement will be given out by the President.

The War Department report, sent to the President last week is also being held confidential.

That the Army is facing a cut in personnel is admitted but there is no intimation as to the number of men affected.

In neither branch is a reduction in officer personnel contemplated at this time.

Coincident with the Fleet reorganization plans, made necessary primarily by the Treaty changes but slated anyway by the advent of the 10,000 ton cruisers, departmental changes are gradually taking shape.

In addition to the partial reorganization of the General Board, the Department is considering other important (Please turn to Page 99)

Surgeons Elect New Officers

CAPT. J. C. Pryor, MC, USN, was elected president of the Association of Military Surgeons of the United States at its business meeting Sept. 27. The annual meeting was opened Sept. 25 at the Wardman Park Hotel, Washington, D. C., and continued through Sept. 27. New officers were elected this year to fill the posts of president, first, second, third and fourth vice president.

The newly elected officers are: Capt. Pryor, president; Col. Charles R. Reynolds, MC, USA, first vice president; Col. Charles W. Comfort, jr., MC, Connecticut National Guard, second vice president; Asst. Surg. Gen. R. C. Williams, USPHS, third vice president, and Comdr. Wm. S. Bainbridge, MC-F, USNR, fourth vice president.

Many delegates attended the 1930 military meet, among whom were: Col. J. T. Clarke, director General Medicine Service, Canada; Capt. Elizardo Castellanos, MC, Cuban Army; Lt. Col. Augusto Schneider, MC, French Army, officer of the Legion of Honor; Lt. Col. Raoul F. C. Paire, MC, of the French Army, chevalier of the Legion of Honor; Group Capt. Martin Flack, RAF, CBE, MB, B.Ch., Great Britain; Asst. Surg. Gen. B. J. Lloyd, USPHS, Guatemala; Capt. Shusuke Horiguchi, MC, Imperial Japanese Army; Col. Adalberto Aviles, MC, Mexican Army; Maj. Felipe Osorio, MC, Mexican Army; Maj. Hector Manjarres, MC, Mexican Army, and Senor Dr. Don B. Sacasa, Minister, Nicaragua.

Efficiency Bureau Aids Pay-Promotion Study

REPORTING satisfactory progress but no final conclusion, the Inter-departmental Pay Board adjourned at 12:30 its meeting on Oct. 3 after two and one-half hours' session.

For the first time the Assistant Director of the Bureau of Efficiency, Mr. William H. McReynolds, "sat in" on the discussion. This was at the request of Rear Adm. Luke McNamee, USN, Chairman of the Board, it having been decided at the last meeting that full participation of the Bureau's representative in all the deliberations would place the Bureau in possession of all available information when the time came to pass on the report and recommendations of the Board.

Under present plans the report must be concluded finally and submitted to the Comptroller General by Nov. 3. While a number of minor adjustments remain to be made and not all of the major questions involved in the war time "humps" are yet settled, the final agreement now seems certain.

It is not contemplated that a pay bill and a promotion bill that will satisfy "all hands" can be drafted at this time that will provide immediate uniformity in pay and promotion. The plan the Board is working out is one that will approximately equalize conditions and that will gradually, over a period of ten years, bring about a general uniform flow of promotion.

Army Ordnance Association
Will Honor Gen. Williams

A LARGE group of executives and industrialists, members of the Army Ordnance Association and the Committee on National Defense, U. S. Chamber of Commerce, will gather Oct. 8 and 9 for a two-day convention of the association to discuss and study current progress of American munitions. Hon. Benedict Crowell, of Cleveland, Ohio, Director of Munitions during the World War and now president of the association, will preside at the first session of the meeting in Washington, D. C., on Wednesday, Oct. 8, in the auditorium of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

Addresses and technical papers will be presented by Hon. Frederick H. Payne, the Assistant Secretary of War; Ernest T. Trigg, chairman of the National Defense Committee, U. S. Chamber of Commerce; Maj. Gen. Samuel Hof, Chief of Ordnance of the U. S. Army; and Brig. Gens. William H. Tschappat and Edwin D. Bricker, assistants to the Chief of Ordnance. Many ranking officers of the Army and Navy also will attend.

The phenomenal record of Maj. Gen. C. C. Williams, USA, ret., Chief of Ordnance, United States Army, from July 16, 1918, to May 1, 1930, will be honored by the association at the meeting in the auditorium of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce Building. On this occasion the association will be found the Williams Medal for Distinguished Ordnance Service, the first award being made to Gen. Williams. Mr. Crowell will make the award.

As head of the Ordnance department during the war, Gen. Williams successfully performed the tremendous task of directing the design, manufacture and supply of munitions required for the American Army. For this purpose the Congress appropriated over fifteen billions of dollars.

"In establishing the Williams Medal," said Mr. Crowell, "our organization pays tribute to Gen. Williams, who performed such eminent service for his country in war and peace. Gen. Williams led his department in the accomplishment of one of the most difficult tasks in our nation's history. After the war he directed the department in the improvement of weapons, and under his leadership there were developed types of guns, ammunition, bombs and tanks which, in the opinion of experts, represent the highest mechanical application of modern technique and research to our military armament."

On Thursday, Oct. 9, members of the association and their distinguished guests will journey to the Aberdeen Proving Grounds, Md., where, with a program of demonstrations beginning at 10 a. m., the second session of the meeting will be held.

The Aberdeen meetings of the association have been held annually since 1919 and are recognized as the foremost (Please turn to Page 99)

Military Order Of World
War Elects Gen. Delafield

Atlantic City, N. J.—The Military Order of the World War, composed of commissioned officers of the World War, held its election of officers, at its convention, held here Sept. 25-26-27.

Brig. Gen. John Ross Delafield, of the Officers' Reserve Corps, was elected Commander-in-Chief; Rear Adm. J. L. Latimer, USN, and Capt. John Parker Hill, Reserve Corps of Philadelphia, are the Vice-Commanders-in-Chief; the following is the list of personnel: Maj. E. W. Moore, El Cajon, Calif.; Lt. Col. Sydney L. Smith, Brooklyn, N. Y.; and Lt. Col. F. E. Drake, Paris, France, Junior Vice-Commanders-in-Chief; Lt. Col. David T. Abercrombie, Ossining, N. Y., Treasurer-General; Maj. Wm. L. Symons, Washington, D. C., Judge Advocate-General; Brig. Gen. F. A. Washburn, Boston, Mass., Surgeon-General; Maj. Charles B. DuBell, Philadelphia, Chaplain-General; Maj. Gist Blair, Washington, D. C., Historian-General; Rear Adm. T. J. Cowie, Washington, D. C., Maj. Gen. I. Thord-Gray, New York City, Lt. Col. Walter M. Pratt, Boston, Lt. Col. F. N. Hatch, St. Louis, Maj. James P. Redding, New Haven, Maj. George E. Parker, Baltimore, Maj. Guy Wm. Carlton, Buffalo, N. Y., and Lt. Charles Rugg, USN, Washington, D. C., Assistant Attorney General, members of the General Staff; Col. Courtland Nixon, Washington, D. C., Adjutant-General.

Gen. Delafield of New York will take an active interest in the Order this year, and steps have already been taken towards broadening its scope, including the fostering of peace, goodwill and friendship amongst the nations allied with the United States in the World War. Patriotic motives of the Order as set forth in indorsing resolutions at the convention, included the registration and deportation of aliens, and strict enforcement of the immigration laws. Aiming at communism, the investigation of their activities is supported. It is advocated that the investigation of their activities be pushed and laws enacted to end their destructive methods. School teachers would have to take the oath of allegiance as prescribed by their state officials, if eligible as teachers, under another resolution. Along the lines of national defense, the complete fulfillment of construction under the London Treaty is advocated. The adoption of a universal conscription of manpower and industry in time of emergency is one of the principles indorsed and advocated, and adequate national defense would include support of the government military training camps.

The Order has expanded in to a hereditary organization, allowing sons of officers who are members to become likewise companions in the Order.

The various activities were ended at a banquet, when Comdr. Paul C. Woolf (Please turn to Page 103)

Guard Assn. Elects
Gen. Hard President

BRIG. GEN. DUDLEY J. HARD, of

Ohio, was elected president of the National Guard Association of the United States at its annual convention held Sept. 29, 30, and Oct. 1, in Hotel Statler, Boston, succeeding Maj. Gen. Alfred F. Foote, of Massachusetts. Gen. Hard will hold this position for one year, which is the customary period that each officer holds this post.

The other officers elected at this meeting were: Maj. Gen. Milton J. Foreman, of Illinois, honorary president; Brig. Gen. Robert J. Travis, of Georgia, vice president; Lt. Col. Fred M. Waterbury, of New York, secretary, and Brig. Gen. Milton R. McLean, of Kansas, treasurer.

Corps Area vice presidents who were elected as additional members to the Executive Council were: Col. Frank Gibbs, Massachusetts National Guard, 1st Corps Area; Col. Frederick A. Baldwin, New York National Guard, 2nd Corps Area; Col. John A. Cutchins, Virginia National Guard, 3rd Corps Area; Brig. Gen. J. M. Hairston, Mississippi National Guard, 4th Corps Area; Col. D. Wray DePrez, Indiana National Guard, 5th Corps Area; Brig. Gen. Ralph H. Immell, Wisconsin National Guard, 6th Corps Area; Brig. Gen. George E. Leach, Minnesota National Guard, 7th Corps Area; Col. J. F. Pomeroy, Arizona National Guard, 8th Corps Area, and Col. M. G. McConnell, Idaho National Guard, 9th Corps Area.

At this year's meeting the resolutions introduced were not so numerous as in the past, and those introduced were considered expeditiously. One of the most important was the unqualified support of all the States to the Congressional Bill (Speak's Bill) now on the House Calendar, amending the National Defense Bill.

New Orleans, La., was chosen as the meeting place for the convention next year, which will not take place until after Thanksgiving.

Addresses were made by Maj. Gen. William G. Everson, Chief, Militia Bureau; Brig. Gen. John A. McA. Pal- (Please turn to Page 103)

Gen. MacArthur Sails

THE following despatch, dated Oct. 2, was received yesterday by The Adjutant General of the Army from Manila:

"1. I have this day relinquished command of the Philippine Department. MacArthur.

"2. I have this day assumed command of the 9th Corps Area. MacArthur.

"3. I have this day assumed command of the Philippine Department. Hines."

The following also was received under date of Oct. 2: "Following officers relieved from further assignment on duty this Department, Oct. 2—Lt. Col. Charles H. Patterson, CAC; Maj. John J. Reddy, MC, and 1st Lt. Thomas J. Davis, Inf. These officers now en route to United States with Maj. Gen. MacArthur. Hines."

Thus the exchange of commands between Maj. Gen. Douglas MacArthur and Maj. Gen. John L. Hines under current War Department orders has been accomplished. Although President Hoover has announced that Gen. MacArthur will succeed Gen. Summerall as Chief of Staff, the orders assigning him to the 9th Corps Area still stand. Orders relieving him from that assignment and formally assigning him to the duty as Chief of Staff will likely be issued soon. Gen. MacArthur had been inspecting in China, returning recently to Manila en route to the States.

Little Significance Attached to Hitler's Abrogation of Treaties Speech

ADOLPH HITLER'S firebrand speech before the German Supreme Court, when called as witness in the trial of three German Army officers for spreading Fascist propaganda, has stirred the world, both politically and in the financial markets, during the past week. American newspapers, commenting on the speech and the reaction, attempt to calm the uproar. They, for the most part, declare that Hitler is merely an opportunist in politics and his radical utterances will strengthen the present administration in Germany. Some of them declare that the speech was merely for home consumption and analyze his speech to show where he actually preached sticking to the constitution. Many of the papers, however, assert that a large part of Germany is behind Hitler as far as his objectives—the stopping of reparations and the increasing of armaments—go, whatever they may feel about his methods, which all maintain would not be accepted by the mass of German people.

"THERE is a good chance that the limelight centering just now on Adolf Hitler, the German Fascist leader, may soon be turned instead on the present head of the government," states the Boston Herald (Independent). "Chancellor Bruening has taken a stand which recalls the stand of Bismarck in the old blood and iron days. He will go before the parliament this month with a certain program. If the parliament accepts it, well and good. If it rejects it, he will adjourn the parliament—sine die, apparently.

"This means a dictatorship in fact.

"... Between Bruening, supported by the aged Hindenburg, and Adolf Hitler, few, one would imagine, would hesitate. There is reason to believe that the wild outbursts of Hitler at the Leipzig trial have shocked the sober-minded majority of the German people. If questions are not to be settled by resolutions and speeches, they are still less likely to be settled by the methods, if any, which these hotheads advocate."

"IF Germany were to declare a moratorium upon the payment of her conditional annuities or, following the extreme Fascist elements, refuse to pay anything at all, what would happen to France," asks the New York Journal of Commerce. "To ask the question is to reveal the precarious political basis of France's extraordinary wealth of gold and superabundant credit resources. France is the recipient of more than 50 per cent of the annual payments made by Germany on reparations account, and these payments over a period of years have been one of the main sources of that favorable balance of international payments which has brought about the inflation of French balances held in gold and foreign exchange. ... Where this source of nancial position of France and her relation to other countries would undergo a of extraordinary income cut off, or even substantially reduced, indeed, the sudden and radical metamorphosis. The problems of gold distribution and the related questions of seeking investment outlets for excess supplies of short term funds, might cease to trouble France under such circumstances, but the solution would be far from satisfactory to her."

"THERE has not been a sane and ordinarily informed man who has not been perfectly aware that every probability has pointed to an ultimate upset, orderly or disorderly, of the reparations scheme," declares the Baltimore Sun (Independent Democratic). "There are economic factors running against its permanency. More important, it is inconceivable that a generation not in any sense responsible for the war, and other generations yet unborn, will calmly pay year after year for the follies and the failures of the men of 1914. As to armaments, it has been axiomatic for five years that continued failure of the victors to reduce would spell German armaments, treaty or no treaty. ... Hitler is not likely at the moment to turn Germany upside down. But, we repeat, the western world ought to understand clearly that this is not because certain of its professed objectives are not the objectives of the German people, but because the majority of the German people do not wish to use his violent methods."

"BEFORE taking Hitler's words too closely at their face value, however, it is well to remember that the Fascist chieftain is not a Prussian possessed of a native German gravity, but an imaginative Austrian with a keen sense of the dramatic and an instinct for knowing the type of trumpet-call that will rally his largely youthful followers," warns the Christian Science Monitor (Independent). "The main point of interest is the fact, clearly stated beneath the bluster, that, for the present at least, the Fascists intend to work by peaceful and constitutional means, supporting the republic and the Reichswehr. ... What more distant plans Hitler may have in view—whether for a dictatorship or a strong military organization—he will doubtless keep sub rosa until he considers the time ripe. For the present he faces one obstacle which will take more than the rattle of a saber and the clang of a guillotine to dispose of, and that is the 9,000,000 or so Social Democrats, who largely made the peace and the days of the Kaisers and who will remain a nucleus for sober, progressive the Republic, a staunch body of citizens, whose numbers have altered little since thought in Germany."

"THE testimony given before the German Supreme Court by Herr Adolf Hitler, the Austrian agitator who is now the leader of the second largest party in the Reichstag, can be properly understood only by relating it to the exigencies of the case before that tribunal," states the New York Herald-Tribune (Independent Republican). "The Fascist chieftain is an adroit propagandist and sensationalist. His task as a witness was to exculpate some of his followers, officers charged with organizing Fascist 'cells' inside the Reichswehr. His desire as a politician was to intimidate the supporters of the present Republican regime. On the one hand, therefore, he expressed profound respect for the republic's standing army and disavowed any intention to excite disaffection within its ranks. He denied that the Fascist party had anything in mind like a capture of the government by force. Its aim, he said, was to create a 'Third Reich' by constitutional and peaceful means. But as a truculent politician he went far beyond the case in court and promised that if a Fascist government came legitimately into power it would exact a reckoning from the authors of the 1918 revolution and that the heads of those who sanctioned the peace settlements would then roll in dozens into the baskets. Vengeance at home first was his program, then evasion and nullification, legal or illegal, of the Versailles Treaty and the reparation payments.

"... The effrontery of such declarations is so superb as almost to divest them of political reality. Hitler is a Jacobin, but few expect him to go down in history as a second Robespierre. ... Hitler's firebrand threats were made undoubtedly for purposes of domestic politics. The deplorable things about them are the confusion which they create abroad and the harm they do to German credit, already weakened by the current economic depression."

"HITLER had a chance to talk to the world as a statesman; instead, he made a rabid appeal to his own gallery gods which aroused them to a furor, but filled most other people in Germany and elsewhere with disgust and contempt," comments the New York World (Democratic). "... This self-revelation by the Fascist leader of his weaknesses and general unfitness to lead, is in one way reassuring. ... The very nature of his appeal indicates that he has utilized the prevalent economic distress to marshal the forces of discontent. His sudden rise under these conditions may foreshadow an equally sudden fall when these conditions change."

"TO dismiss the Hitlerite rhetoric, for all its naivete, as of no consequence, would be wrong," says the New York Times (Independent Democratic). "Since 1914, no one will venture to say what dire mischief may not be let loose by infantile irresponsibility. It requires no great talent to get on the nerves of the nations in the new European order and particularly in the present economic discontent. Yet, humanly speaking, the net result of the 6,000,000 votes cast for the Hitlerite platform of dictatorship and war, the net result of the flamboyant speech at Leipzig, should bring together the parties and elements in Germany standing for sobriety and the existing political order."

Col. Creecy's Death

INVESTIGATION of the death of Lt. Col. Richard Bennett Creecy, USMC, by a Marine board of inquest and by Washington police arrive at the unsatisfactory conclusion that Col. Creecy attacked his wife with a hatchet last Sunday at Washington, D. C., and then shot himself in a fit of insanity.

Mrs. Creecy was still alive late yesterday, though no hope was held out for her recovery.

Service people everywhere were dismayed at the news of the tragedy which took place last Sunday in the Mayflower Hotel, where the Creecys were stopping. Col. Creecy was on leave from his duty with Constabulary Detachment, Garde de Haiti, and was due to return to Haiti this week.

Following the discovery of the body of the Marine officer, on the floor of their suite at the Mayflower, with Mrs. Creecy lying nearby, her head gashed three times with an axe, police began a probe which has continued through the week. Twelve hours had elapsed before the discovery was made.

Police found that Col. Creecy had bought the axe and gun, a .45 caliber Colt service pistol, the day before the tragedy, and had apparently been in possession of a sane mind to those who had observed him during the preceding days. Due to the lack of any motive, insanity is the explanation most frequently given for the apparent murderous attack and suicide.

The Marine Corps board of inquest, composed of Cols. Louis McC. Little, USMC, and Thomas C. Turner, USMC, and Lt. Comdr. George P. Carr, MC, USN, arrived at a verdict of insanity after a detailed investigation of the matter.

The law, however, seeks a more detailed account of why the wealthy, high-ranking officer, apparently in the best of spirits on the eve of his start for his post in Haiti, should have been plotting the death of his wife, and also why he chose the hatchet as a weapon with a revolver close at hand with which he blotted out his own existence.

Interment of Col. Creecy took place at Arlington Memorial Cemetery Wednesday, attended by Maj. Gen. Commandant Ben. H. Fuller, USMC; Brig. Gen. John T. Myers, USMC, assistant commandant, and many ranking Marine officers. The honorary pall-bearers were: Brig. Gen. Rufus H. Lane, USMC; Lt. Col. David M. Randall, USMC; Lt. Col. Chas. R. Sanderson, USMC; Lt. Col. Walter N. Hill, USMC; Lt. Col. Albert E. Randall, USMC, and Maj. William F. Bevan, USMC.

Col. Creecy was born in Washington, D. C., March 5, 1881, and was appointed to the Marine Corps as a second lieutenant July 14, 1903, after having served as a naval cadet during the Spanish-American War.

During the World War Col. Creecy served in France from Oct., 1918, to July, 1919, commanding Port of Toulon and Camp Canet, Marseilles, France. In January, 1919, he was most demonstrations of military armament in this country. "Their purpose," as stated by Mr. Crowell, "is to educate engineers and executives of American industry as to the characteristics of modern American armament so that in the event of a major war commercial establishments will be able to produce munitions without waste of time and money." Members of the association, with the approval of the Secretary of War, are permitted to witness current tests of ordnance equipment, including latest types of land, air and anti-aircraft armament. In addition to tests by the ordnance department of all sizes and types of guns, ammunition, tanks and bombs, several other branches of the Army, including the Air Corps, Field Artillery, anti-aircraft units of the Coast Artillery, Chemical Warfare Service, Signal Corps, Infantry and Quartermaster Corps will participate in the demonstrations. The great popularity of the Aberdeen meetings in the past, makes it necessary to limit attendance this year to members of the association and their guests who have been furnished admission tickets.

The officers of the Army Ordnance Association, which cooperates closely with the ordnance department of the Army and is devoted to industrial preparedness for war as one of the strongest guarantees of peace, in addition to Mr. Crowell include: William W. Coleman, Bucyrus-Erie Co., So. Milwaukee, Wis., and William C. Spruance, E. I. duPont de Nemours & Co., Wilmington, Del., vice-presidents; Chas. Elliot Warren, Irving Trust Co., New York, N. Y., treasurer; John Ross Delafield, attorney, New York, N. Y., counsel; and Samuel McRoberts, Chatham-Phenix National Bank and Trust Co., New York, N. Y.; Frank A. Scott, Warner & Swasey Co., Cleveland, Ohio; C. L. Harrison, capitalist, Cincinnati, Ohio; James L. Walsh, Guardian Detroit Group, New York, N. Tenney, Springfield Gas Light Co., Springfield, Mass.; Harry Scullin, Scullin Steel Co., St. Louis, Mo.; Phiny E. Holt, Caterpillar Tractor Co., Stockton, Calif.; R. M. Dravo, Dravo Contracting Co., Pittsburgh, Pa.; John C. Jones, Cochran Corp., Philadelphia, Pa.; and Spencer G. Kuhn, of Groesbeck, Dickson, Kuhn Co., Cincinnati, Ohio, directors.

The National Defense Committee, U. S. Chamber of Commerce, will participate in the meeting in Washington, and the chairman of the committee, Mr. Ernest T. Trigg, of Philadelphia, Pa., will deliver an address there. Other members of the committee who will be in attendance are: Frederick J. Haynes, president, Durant Motors, Inc., Detroit, Mich.; A. J. Brosseau, president, Mack Trucks, Inc., New York, N. Y.; W. L. Clause, Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co., Pittsburgh, Pa.; Charles W. Dais, president, Dallas Power and Light Co., Dallas, Texas; Carl R. reallignment. One of the proposed changes is the creation of a design board composed of line officers fresh from the Fleet and picked men from the technical bureaus.

Admittedly naval designing is not at a high point and means of utilizing to the best advantage the "best brains" are being sought.

Another suggestion has been made that a material section be created with a rear admiral acting as material officer, working directly with the Secretary of the Navy and Chief of Operations, as a clearing house and liaison for all the technical bureaus.

Just how serious will be the cut in enlisted personnel is not known but the menace of any heavy cut is disquieting. With the relative strength of the Fleet cut down by international agreement, an adequate and well-trained personnel has been looked on as one means of offsetting the loss in ships. Under the four year enlistment system it has always been a problem to keep trained crews and with complements reduced still further than the present peacetime strength, efficient manning becomes almost impossible.

Urge Simplified Rules

SIMPLIFICATION of the regulations governing airworthiness of aircraft was asked by the airplane manufacturers' section of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce, at a meeting, Sept. 25, in Washington, D. C.

Convening at the request of Col. Clarence M. Young, Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Aeronautics, the representatives of the manufacturers submitted a number of suggestions as to changes in policies and regulations. Liberalization of the present requirements for student pilots was asked, as a measure to further the general use of aircraft by private owners. No license or medical examination should be required for student pilots, in their view, until the solo stage of flying is reached.

The change which is to be instituted, establishing four stations for inspection of new aircraft was protested against by manufacturers. They ask that the present system of traveling inspectors be continued.

More latitude in making minor changes without departmental approval was asked and it was recommended that a conference be arranged between the field inspectors of the Department of Commerce and the executive committee of their body.

Members of the airplane manufacturers' section of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce are as follows:

Ace Aircraft Manufacturing Corporation, Aeromarine Klemm Corporation, Aeronautical Corporation of America, Alexander Aircraft Company, American Aeronautical Corporation, American Eagle Airplane Corporation, Atlanta Aircraft Corporation, Bellanca Aircraft Corporation, Bird Aircraft, Inc.

Boeing Airplane Company, Buhl Aircraft Corporation, Butler Aircraft Corporation, Cessna Airplane Company, Command-Aire, Inc., Consolidated Aircraft Corporation, Cunningham-Hall Aircraft Corporation, Curtiss Aeroplane and Motor Company, Curtiss-Robertson Airplane Mfg. Company, Davis Aircraft Corporation, Earl Aviation Corporation, Ltd., Eastman Aircraft

When Dull Film Covers Teeth
Smiles Lose Fascination

is found by dental research to play an important part in tooth decay . . . and to cause unsightly stains.

CONSTANTLY new theories are advanced as to the cause of tooth decay. Some authorities say it's germs. Others believe it's faulty diet. And the rest hold it a combination of the two.

But one thing is positively known; wherever trouble and decay appear, germs are always present. Thus ridding teeth and gums of germs is the first thing one must do to keep teeth strong and healthy.

Germs live in film

Your teeth are covered by a stubborn, clinging film. In it—tightly glued in contact with the teeth—are the germs that cause decay and other troubles. Your protection lies in never failing to remove that film from teeth each day.

Film ruins teeth's appearance by absorbing stains from food and smoking . . . how many times have you noted these discolorations?

The sure way to remove this dangerous film is with Pepsodent, as that is the sole purpose for which Pepsodent was developed.

Pepsodent contains no pumice, no harmful grit or crude abrasives. It has a gentle action that protects the delicate enamel. It is completely SAFE . . . yet it removes dingy film where ordinary methods fail.

Have lovely, sparkling teeth! Be safe! Use Pepsodent, for no other way can equal its effectiveness.

AMOS 'n' ANDY America's most popular radio feature. On the air every night except Sunday over N. B. C. network. 7:00 p. m. on stations operating on Eastern time. 10:30 p. m. on stations operating on Central time. 9:30 p. m., Mountain time. 8:30 p. m., Pacific time.

Do These Three Things

to have strong, healthy teeth

1 Follow this diet daily: one or two eggs, raw fruit, fresh vegetables, head lettuce, cabbage or celery. ½ lemon with orange juice. One quart milk and other food to suit the taste

2 Use Pepsodent twice a day.

3 See your dentist at least twice a year.

Selfridge Field Notes

THE members of the First Pursuit Group who participated in the National Air Races at Chicago, were commended by Maj. Gen. Frank Parker and Maj. Gen. James E. Fechet. The chairman of the National Air Race Committee, has also written to all participants, announcing that they will be presented with bronze medals by the committee in appreciation of their work.

The French fliers, Coste and Bellonte, were escorted from Toledo to Detroit by 18 Selfridge planes on Sept. 17. Upon arriving over Detroit, the French plane landed at the Detroit airport, the Army planes proceeding to their home airdrome. The following morning the Frenchmen motored to Selfridge Field. After being taken on a short inspection tour, they were tendered an aerial review. Before their departure they were introduced to all of the officers on the field.

At the Annual Gunnery Matches held at Langley Field, Va., early in September, three Selfridge pilots took first, second and third places in pursuit firing. They were 2nd Lts. A. T. Johnson, E. R. Warburton, and A. A. Straubel, respectively.

Twenty-one Selfridge planes participated in the welcome to the fliers of the Ford Reliability Tour, which was completed at the Ford Airport, Detroit, on Sept. 27. Formation flying and mimic aerial combat was on the program. Maj. G. F. Brower demonstrated the performance of the newest Boeing pursuit plane, which has a high speed of 192 miles per hour. At the completion of the demonstration, all the fliers were entertained with a banquet at the Detroit-Leland Hotel.

ENGINEER SOLDIERS ON NEW WORK

SOLDIERS of the United States Army Engineer Battalion in Nicaragua, now engaged on the canal survey, have added a new job to the peace-time activities of the Army, through their diamond drilling work on sub-soil investigations. Mr. William Walker of Sprague and Henwood, Inc., came to Nicaragua last April to supervise the drilling and instruct soldiers in the work. Men assigned as his assistants have attained proficiency in the drilling and some of the more promising non-commissioned officers are at present learning diamond setting. Two drills purchased from canal survey funds are being used by the engineer soldiers in Nicaragua and two more are to arrive shortly.

MATHER FIELD, CALIF. TO BECOME TEMPORARILY ACTIVE

ON Nov. 1, 1930, Mather Field, near Sacramento, Calif., will temporarily become an active field. The units which will be temporarily assigned to this station already have permanent stations. As a consequence, Mather Field again will become inactive when permanent quarters for these units are completed at their assigned stations. Consequently no permanent construction will be undertaken at Mather Field.

The following units of the Air Corps will become reconstituted at Mather Field: Headquarters 20th Pursuit Group, 80th Service Sqdn., 77th Pursuit Sqdn., 55th Pursuit Sqdn.

55th Pursuit Sqdn. These units will be formed by transferring the necessary number of officers from other stations; transferring trained enlisted men from other fields as follows: 60 from Kelly Field, Tex.; 28 from Brooks Field, Tex.; 60 from Langley Field, Va.; 52 from Mitchel Field, N. Y.; and by assignment of 223 Air Corps recruits. Certain personnel from the Quartermaster Corps, Medical Department, Ordnance and Signal Corps, will complete the garrison.

Mather Field was first built during the World War and remained an active field until 1922, when reduction in the Army caused its closing. It was constructed as a complete training unit with 12 hangars, occupying about 600 acres. The opening of Mather Field becomes necessary to care for the fourth increment of the Air Corps increase. It will probably be used also to reconstitute units necessary for the fifth increment in 1931.

SIG. CORPS OFFICERS TO STUDY SOUND PICTURES IN HOLLYWOOD

CAPT. FREDERICK W. HOORN, of Governors Island, the first of several Signal Corps officers designated by the War Department to study the making of sound motion pictures in Hollywood, sailed Sept. 27 for San Francisco, on the USAT Cambrai.

Under a recently adopted War Department policy, Signal Corps officers are to undergo an intensive course of study at Hollywood in sound motion picture production and practice. Later they will undertake the production of instructional film at the Signal Corps photographic laboratory in Washington, D. C. For this latter purpose the Signal Corps, which is charged with training film production, is installing the latest type sound equipment in its principal laboratory.

ADM. PRATT FORMING PLANNING SECTION

IN ORDER to expedite the work and relieve the Chief of Naval Operations from consideration of details, Adm. William V. Pratt is creating a Planning Section in Operations to handle routine and dispose of minor matters of operation.

Headed by Rear Adm. Miggs Taylor, the personnel of this committee will consist of Capt. Emory S. Land, who has been assigned to duty in the War Plans Section, Operations, Capt. John W. Greenslade, now aide to the secretary and assigned to future duty in Operations, Comdr. H. W. Lammers, Lt. Comdr. Marc A. Mitcher, Lt. Comdr. R. S. Berkey and Lt. C. W. A. Campbell, the latter two aides to the Chief.

In addition Adm. Pratt proposes to have one officer from each bureau detailed as liaison officer to serve on the Planning Section. The officers who are now associated with the admiral have been serving with him in the Fleet, with the exception of Rear Adm. John Halligan, assistant chief, who will also meet with the board.

GEN. SUMMERALL PRAISES TROOPS

GEN. SUMMERALL, Chief of Staff of the Army, in a statement to the representatives of the San Francisco press, Sept. 10, 1930, said:

"The troops here are in excellent condition. I do not know of anything more beautiful than the marching of that 30th Infantry and the Band, in well fitting uniforms, and the care of the harness and equipment, the horses and mules. The Regiment is something that the city should be proud of. The Army is proud of it. It is a Regiment that the Army looks up to as an example. And the Scott Troops are the same way—fine engineer men; fine soldiers, all living well. All that I can say is that I am proud of this command. It is an inspiration for the Service."

REP. BRITTEN TO PUSH BUILDING ONLY OF 8-INCH GUN CRUISERS

REPRESENTATIVE BRITTEN, chairman of the House Committee on Naval Affairs, announced this week that he intends to push the completion of all the 8-inch gun cruisers possible under the terms of the London Treaty but that he would "rather accept cruiser inferiority to Great Britain than to see us build any more of the 6-inch gun cruisers."

Mr. Britten declared that a majority of the members of his committee is opposed to the authorization or construction of any of the new 6-inch gun type cruisers, because they have been told repeatedly by officers appearing before the committee that this type is of little value to the United States. He will delve deeply, the Congressman said, into any proposal to build hybrid cruisers carrying airplane landing decks and mounting 6-inch guns.

CAVALRY TO GET AIR-COOLED MACHINE GUNS

ON the recommendation of Maj. Gen. Guy V. Henry, Chief of Cavalry, the War Department has approved the replacing of machine rifles, in each troop of cavalry and cavalry trains, by air-cooled machine guns. These will shortly be issued to cavalry regiments. Due to the fact that the machine guns deliver full automatic fire, they are far more formidable weapons than the machine rifles which are fired semi-automatically. When this change is made, the fire power of a cavalry regiment will be greatly augmented. In fact, each war strength regiment of cavalry will possess the dismounted fire power of 16 water-cooled .30 caliber machine guns and 48 air-cooled .30 caliber machine guns, or a total of 64 machine guns plus the fire of 624 rifles.

Machine guns with the cavalry are carried on pack horses, from the backs of which the guns may be removed and firing commenced within 30 seconds from the time horses are brought to a halt. These pack horses can easily keep up with the over cavalry troops, and move rapidly over any kind of ground.

ARMY RETIREMENTS

ORDERS were issued this week authorizing the retirement of 16 officers from active service in the Regular Army, 10 of whom were found by an Army retiring board to be incapacitated for active service on account of disability incident thereto. These 10 retirements were all effective Sept. 30.

Those who were retired for physical disability were: Capt. Amos Tyree, QMC; Capt. C. J. Kalberer, QMC; Maj. W. J. Burdell, MC; Maj. R. M. Buffington, VC; Capt. H. O. Richardson, Cav.; Col. J. P. Robinson, FA; 1st Lt. G. E. Waldo, FA; Col. M. C. Corey, Inf.; Lt. Col. C. B. Hodges, Inf., and Capt. J. S. Schwab, Inf.

WHERE WILL PRESIDENT STAND ON NAVY?

THE responsibility for the London Naval Treaty and our naval defense thereunder rests upon five men: Secretary Stimson, Secretary Adams, Senator Reed, Senator Robinson and Ambassador Morrow. They were backed up and endorsed by President Hoover.

These men are obligated to insure the safety of the country, so far as a navy is concerned, by building as the treaty permits.

Of the six several have definitely committed themselves. Secretary Adams is unequivocally in favor of a building program that will take every advantage of the provisions of the agreement. Senator Reed has reiterated his stand in favor of a program entirely adequate. Senator Robinson openly committed himself in his radio talks and has since repeated where he stands.

While neither Secretary Stimson nor Ambassador Morrow has publicly committed himself, both are understood to favor whatever steps Mr. Hoover authorizes.

In the final analysis President Hoover faces the responsibility of advocating or sidetracking a comprehensive building program that will take full advantage of the agreement.

To date Mr. Hoover has not openly committed himself. In private he has stated he favors a building program, with the exception of replacement of destroyers. The time is at hand for him to announce to the American public where he stands.

If the U. S. embark on a program that will substantially build up to the authorized strength, we can go into the 1936 conference on the basis of status quo, the precedent established this year at London, without fear of further sacrifices. If we do not build now, both England and Japan will have a right to demand greater ratios and our inferiority will be even more striking than at present.

We feel the President should define the administration policy without further delay. If we are not to spend the hundreds of millions required for a Treaty Navy, what can we hope for at the next conference? If we do not build now, the country is placed in the position of adopting a policy of "Disarmament by example," letting our national defenses go in the hope that other powers will follow suit. In the past Mr. Hoover has repudiated this as a national policy.

The General Board of the Navy is rapidly completing its recommendations for a building program. The opening of Congress is approaching. With the era of economy on, what will be the fate of the program? It is up to Mr. President to come out emphatically and let the country know where the administration stands with respect to our naval defenses.

Too much ACID

Many people, two hours after eating, suffer indigestion as they call it. It is usually excess acid. Correct it with an alkali. The best way, the quick, harmless and efficient way, is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained for 50 years the standard with physicians. One spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in stomach acids, and at once. The symptoms disappear in five minutes.

You will never use crude methods when you know this better method. And you will never suffer from excess acid when you prove out this easy relief. Please do that—for your own sake—now.

Be sure to get the genuine, prescribed by doctors for conditions due to excess acid. It is always a liquid; it cannot be made in tablet form. Look for the name Phillips' and the word genuine in red.

Adm. Marvell Hoists Flag

REAR ADM. GEORGE R. MARVELL USN, hoisted his two-star flag to the main truck of the USS Northampton, Sept. 29 and assumed command of the Light Cruiser Division, and Light Cruiser Division 5, Scouting Fleet.

Just three days previous the Northampton, commanded by Capt. W. N. Vernon, USN, reported to Vice Adm. A. L. Willar, USN, commander of the Scouting Fleet, following the completion of her shakedown cruise to European ports.

The Northampton is the third 10,000 light cruiser to join the Fleet. The USS Chester, now on a shakedown cruise to Mediterranean ports, will join Light Cruiser Division 5 the latter part of October. Division 5 will be made up of the Northampton, Chester, Salt Lake City and Pensacola.

Adm. Marvell was received by Capt. Vernon and the officers of the Northampton, as well as the members of his staff. Members of his staff are as follows: Lt. J. H. Duncan, USN, flag lieutenant; Lt. Comdr. Felix B. Stump, USN, aviation aide; Lt. Comdr. Elmer R. Henning, USN, communications officer; Lt. Comdr. Frank Loftin, USN, flag secretary, and Lt. Comdr. Ingolf N. Kiland, USN, gunnery officer.

The post of commander, Light Cruiser Divisions, is prominently mentioned for the assignment of the vacant vice-admiralty, which has been unoccupied since the post of commander, naval forces in Europe was discontinued.

Double Ceremony Held

A MOST unusual and interesting ceremony took place at the Puget Sound Navy Yard, when the light cruiser Louisville was launched and the light cruiser Astoria's keel was laid. A joint celebration commemorated the events.

Many of the Northwest's leading sons took part in the ceremony, which was attended by the largest crowd Bremerton has ever seen.

Two squadrons of Navy seaplanes and one of land planes circled about the Navy Yard during most of the day, lending color to the occasion. Both the Navy Yard Band and the band from the USS New Mexico were present and played during the ceremony.

Little Miss Jane Brown Kennedy, of Louisville, Ky., was the sponsor of the Louisville, and following the dedication speech by Representative Maurice H. Thatcher, official spokesman for the city for which the vessel was named, the christening took place.

Governor A. W. Norblad, of Oregon, was the honorary head of the riveting gang which drove the first spike into the keel of the USS Astoria. This took place immediately following the launching.

Rear Adm. Henry J. Ziegemeir, USN, Commandant of the Puget Sound Navy Yard, was directing head of the ceremonies and introduced the various speakers. Among those present were: Senator Wesley Jones, Major J. C. Ten Brock, of Astoria, Mayor C. E. B. Oldham, of Bremerton, and Brig. Gen. Maurice Thompson, of the Washington National Guard.

Naval Reserve Notes

A SELECTION board to recommend one lieutenant commander, Supply Corps, United States Naval Reserve, for promotion to commander, will be convened in the Bureau of Navigation about Nov. 3, to fill a vacancy which occurred July 6, it was announced this week.

Records of the following lieutenant commanders, Supply Corps, having more than four years service in grade, will be submitted to the Board, which has not yet been named:

Alfred Engels, William B. Zimmer, Henry R. Snyder, Charles G. Spoerer, C. G. A. Johnson, Roy May, Josiah Merritt, Richard E. A. Lambert, Alfred C. Flather, Taylor Calhoun, Willard C. Brown, Benjamin H. Micou, Henry Kuhmeyer, Albert W. Rutter, Elliott Ranney, Casper T. Frederickson, Edward B. Erickson, Vestus J. Willcox, Albert F. Wayne, Frank M. Cobbledick.

The Naval Reserve aviation base at Quantum has recently acquired a new wind vane. The vane is in the shape of an arrow, and has been painted yellow.

Building Program

FORMULATION of a comprehensive building program that will give the United States a Navy approximating what is permitted under the London Treaty is nearing completion by the General Board.

While the strictest secrecy marks the developments under the administration censorship that appears to apply to all matters affecting the Navy, it is generally understood that the board's report will not include all of the ships permitted under the agreement.

Though our destroyers will all be obsolete by the time another conference is gathering, 100 per cent replacement is not advocated in naval circles. Under the 150,000 tonnage figure in destroyers, the recommendations will probably provide for a few destroyer leaders, a type now non-existent, and comparatively few new destroyers.

Bombing tests on two of the old destroyers are now starting on the west coast and minor changes will be advocated in the new ships. A gradual replacement will no doubt be the recommendation where destroyers are concerned.

In the 10,000-ton, 8-inch gun cruisers, we now have five, with three more nearing completion, two laid down and three held up to permit modification of design. The balance of the 180,000 tonnage permitted will obviously be provided for.

Where the 6-inch gun cruisers are concerned a real problem is presented. The General Board is confronted with a problem of the best advantage to be taken of the 143,500 tons permitted. It is probable that a few 10,000 ton ships with landing decks will be recommended and that the rest of the tonnage will be in ships of lesser size from 7,500 to 9,000 tons.

With 66,000 tons of airplane carriers in the Lexington and Saratoga and bids asked for a third carrier of 13,500 tons, it is probable that the remaining 55,500 tons, eliminating the Langley, will be utilized in four carriers of approximately the same size as the one soon to be built.

In submarines the board faces another problem. About 60 per cent of our present tonnage will be obsolete by the next conference but the total tonnage has been so reduced that new construction will not be prohibitive in cost.

The five V-boats in commission, with the sixth and V-7, V-8 and V-9 appropriated for, together with the S-boats that are operating satisfactorily leave a tonnage to be provided that constitutes a modest program. It cannot be overlooked that Japan, who gained equality in submarines under the treaty, is built up to the limit and if the same ratio is to be maintained the U. S. must build up to the agreement figures.

In naval circles there is no indication of a desire to lay every keel the treaty would permit. The program recommended probably will not provide for anything like the total a strict interpretation of the treaty would give. It is generally held that a gradual building that at the end of 5 years would give us half or better of all the ships permitted and would enable the U. S. to provide the most modern types. This would clear the ship yards and leave a possibility of adequate appropriations to take care of eventualities. Extension of the life of the capital ship and delaying the replacement program is not accepted as the death knell of the capital ship. If they are to be replaced this would start just after the next conference.

Inspector's Salary

THE War Department in permitting an employee, James Kelley, to spend two weeks inspecting ammunition for the Navy Department, did not acquire the right to charge Mr. Kelley's salary to the Navy Department, according to a ruling affirmed by Comptroller General McCarl. The Chief of Ordnance of the Army protested that the salary of civilian employees is charged to the procurement of ammunition and that "an excessive charge of this kind results in a decreased amount of ammunition for the Army."

"If carried to the extreme," the Chief of Ordnance wrote, "and unless Navy funds pay for the salary of Mr. Kelley while inspecting ammunition for the Navy Department it may be carried to the extreme, the Ordnance Department could pay the salary of men working on ammunition for the Navy Department, thus greatly increasing the quantity of ammunition for the Navy Department and greatly reducing the quantity of ammunition available for the Army."

The Comptroller General, however, upheld the disapproval for payment of $199.94 of the sum of $222.74 proposed to be paid on Navy Department public voucher in favor of the Chief of Finance, War Department.

Ft. Lincoln Activities

THE Chief of Staff, Gen. Charles P. Summerall, visited Ft. Lincoln, Sept. 19. The General arrived in Bismarck at 11:42 A. M., and was met at the station by the Commanding Officer, Lt. Col. McNamara, and Maj. Byrne.

A reception and luncheon, at which over 100 leading Bismarck business men and the officer personnel at Ft. Lincoln attended, was held at the Patterson Hotel for the General upon his arrival. Col. Frayne Baker, NGR, had charge of arrangements for the reception and luncheon.

After lunch the Chief of Staff, accompanied by Col. McNamara and Maj. Byrne, visited the 3rd Battalion at their camp 23 miles southeast of Ft. Lincoln. After being accorded the prescribed military courtesies at the camp, Gen. Summerall inspected the camp and reviewed the troops.

From the camp, Gen. Summerall returned to Ft. Lincoln and conducted a thorough inspection of the post.

Before leaving for Minneapolis at 7:30 P. M., Friday evening, Gen. Summerall was the guest of Col. Baker at a formal dinner given at the Patterson Hotel.

While in Bismarck, the Chief of Staff had the pleasure of renewing his acquaintance with his old friend, Chief Red Tomahawk. It will be recalled that when Gen. Summerall visited Ft. Lincoln in October, 1928, Chief Red Tomahawk bestowed upon him a chiefship in the Sioux Tribe.

Thursday, Lt. Col. Wallace McNamara arrived at Ft. Lincoln and assumed command, relieving Maj. F. F. A. Byrne. Col. McNamara's last assignment was with the Organized Reserves of the 98th Division, with station at Syracuse, N. Y.

Maj. F. A. Byrne, who reported for permanent duty at Ft. Lincoln, Sept. 10, from Howard University, Washington, D. C., has been appointed 3rd Battalion Commander, relieving Capt. G. A. M. Anderson.

2nd Lt. George C. Willette has received orders transferring him to Hawaii. Lt. Willette will sail from San Francisco, Nov. 20, 1930.

The 3rd Battalion returned to Ft. Lincoln early Sunday morning, after spending two weeks on its annual practice march. The troops wound up their long march with a nine mile night hike from their last camp near Twin Buttes. On the practice march the Battalion covered well over 100 miles with the enviable record of having but one man fall on the march.

The troops hiked from 9 to 13 miles a day. On each daily march the Battalion transportation preceded the troops by one-half hour's march making it possible for the field kitchens to have dinner in readiness when the men reached camp.

Though several cold nights were spent in camp, no ill effects resulted from exposure, and the men arrived back at the Post well seasoned and in good physical condition from the long hike. On the practice march the Battalion was commanded by Capt. G. A. M. Anderson.

North Dakota duck hunting season opened Monday, Sept. 22. A large number of officers and men of the post left for their favorite hunting grounds Sunday afternoon, in order to get in on the early Monday morning killings. There are any number of small lakes and rivers within a small radius of Ft. Lincoln that afford excellent duck hunting.

Inf. School Opens

Ft. Benning, Ga.—Opening exercises for 218 student officers of the Infantry School were held here Sept. 24 in the Main Theater.

The principal addresses were by Brig. Gen. Campbell King, USA, commandant of the Infantry School, and by the Hon. J. Homer Dimon, Mayor of Columbus, Ga.

Among the distinguished visitors who attended the exercises and made short addresses were the Hon. William J. Harris, senior United States Senator, who termed the Infantry School the best asset of the United States Army; and the Hon. William C. Wright, representative from the 4th District of Georgia, who declared that the Infantry School was the greatest infantry school, not only in the United States, but in the world. Congressman Wright further declared that he and Senator Harris would work together to complete the building program of the post, until there were suitable quarters for every officer and every enlisted man.

The invocation was by Chaplain Willis T. Howard, and the benediction by Chaplain Walter H. Paschal.

The music was by the 29th Infantry orchestra.

A large number of officers and ladies of the garrison, as well as friends from Columbus also attended the exercises.

In his address, Gen. King spoke in part as follows:

"Today marks the opening of the 13th academic year of the Infantry School, and it is my great pleasure to welcome you to Benning. Many of you have been here before.

"To those who have pioneered in the early days, the changes must be somewhat startling. On every hand you see evidence of a vast constructive program, which day by day is adding to the comfort and efficiency of the garrison.

"You have been brought together for a year of study and research, freed from the routine and administrative details of your garrison and regimental lives, in order that you may improve yourselves mentally and physically before returning to the service at large and imparting new vigor and enthusiasm to your units.

"The years of exhaustion which follow a great war and the economic restrictions which political expediency imposes have always prevented full advantage being taken from the lessons which the conflict offered. Officers become more and more immersed in the minor parts of the drill ground. It is just this that the Infantry School aims to prevent.

"The development of weapons, the changes in organization, and the tactical lessons of the World War are here kept alive and applied to what we conceive to be present-day needs.

"A new infantry organization will be introduced to you; undoubtedly, there will be some difference between the teachings of last year and this. But this difference will relate only to the application of unchanging principles to a new organization.

"If war comes again the tactical methods employed will be as different from those of the World War, as the latter were from those employed by the armies of Grant and Lee. Future operations will probably be dominated by considerations of speed, mobility, and greatly increased fire power, with victory inclining to the side of superior elasticity of thought and organization, to the side which first grasps the essential elements of the problem under the novel conditions of the day.

"And in this victory, the infantry will have the leading part, for we believe today, as a result of experiments, that the infantry will take care of itself against enemies in the air, as it has against enemies on the ground."

In concluding, Gen. King especially welcomed the officers from Germany, Mexico, and Cuba, who are members of this year's classes at the Infantry School.

IN THIS motor age when prices of motor vehicles are generally known it is of interest to note what the Army paid during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1930, for different classes of horses and mules. The average prices were: Horses, riding, $162.17; horses, riding, light, $90.87; horses, light draft, $164.06; mules, pack and riding, $150.76; mules, draft, $164.96.

The Army has about 21,310 horses. It may buy horses that are not more than eight years of age, but in practice it buys younger horses. The Army finds that a horse is fit for military purposes for about 12 years, so that a horse seven years old when purchased is usually at the end of usefulness for the Army when it is 19 years old. During the years 1925-1929 the annual average loss in horses to the Army was about 3,500.

The United States Army polo team received an enthusiastic reception upon their arrival in Buenos Aires, Argentina, Sept. 30. This is the first foreign polo team ever to visit that country, and unusual importance was stressed in the visit as initiating a real international character in the game.

Argentine poloists have placed a large number of their polo ponies at the disposal of the American players since they did not take their mounts with them.

The visiting team comprises Maj. Charles C. Smith, Capt. Chandler A. Wilkinson, Capt. Peter P. Rodes, Lt. Morton McD. Jones, and Lt. Homer Kiefer, all of whom played on the Army polo team which won the National Junior Polo Championship at the Rumson Country Club, Rumson, N. J., July 26.

Col. Willis V. Morris is the trainer of the team and has been assigned an aide de camp by the Argentine Minister of War.

Port au Prince, Haiti.—Polo has increased so in popularity in the past six months that we now have three teams in the field. An elimination contest was held to determine the strength of the various teams and teams were formed from the Garde d'Haiti Second Regiment and Aviation. The first game played resulted in a victory for the regiment over aviation by the score of 8 to 2. The following Sunday the regiment played the Garde and turned in another victory by the score of 8 to 3. Capt. G. D. Jackson was the pilot of the regimental team and Maj. C. J. Murray handled the reins for the Garde. Sgt. Enloe had a field day and scored five of his teams eight goals.

The following is the line-up:

2nd Regiment

1. Pvt. Greene.
2. Capt. Jackson.
3. Sgt. Enloe.
4. Lt. Com. Gendreau.

Garde d'Haiti

1. Maj. Shepherd.
2. Lt. Belton.
3. Lt. Whitel.
4. Maj. Murray.

Substitutes, 2nd Regiment—Pvt. Miller for Greene, Sgt. Williams for Gendreau.

Garde d'Haiti—Maj. Hermle for Shepherd.

Goals scored—2nd Regiment: Johnson, 3; Enloe, 5. Garde d'Haiti: Shepherd, 2; Belton, 1.

A series has been arranged to play for a cup donated by the Polo Association of Haiti.

Ft. Sheridan, Ill.—The Post polo teams, No. 1 and No. 2, have taken part in four matches the past two weeks, winning three and tying one.

On Sunday, Sept. 14, the No. 1 team journeyed to Milwaukee and defeated the River Hills club of that city by a score of 10 to 5, which latter figure included a three-goal handicap. On the same day, the No. 2 team beat a second River Hills team on the post polo field by a score of 8 to 3.

Governors Island, N. Y.—First and aggressive riding enabled the First Division A polo team of Ft. Hamilton to overcome a five-goal handicap allotted to the Essex Troop four of the 102nd Cavalry of New Jersey and to register a 9 to 7 victory at Governors Island Sept. 26. A crowd of 3,000 saw the Brooklyn officers gain the semi-final round of the annual Second Corps Area military polo championship.

The winners showed superior team work and more dash than their rivals. However, Essex Troop's five-goal allowance greatly helped in keeping the New Jersey riders in front as late as the fifth period. The two Scotts, Jean D at No. 2 and Capt. Don M at No. 3 shared honors in the offensive with Lt. Jack G. Van Houten, the First Division No. 1.

Van Houten and Lt. Scott tallied three goals each.

Capt. Scott accounted for two and played a good defensive game, riding off many opponents in daring fashion. Capt. Tom A. Harris, at back, scored the other First Division goal, the lone tally of the sixth and final period, on a pass from Lt. Scott.

A brilliant ride three-quarters of the field's length by Lt. Van Houten, with an Essex Troop player in hot pursuit, resulted in the former eluding his rival and scoring in the first period. A goal by Capt. Scott, two in succession by Lt. Scott and one by Lt. Van Houten enabled the First Division to pull up on even terms temporarily in the second period, but a tally by Lt. Donald A. MacGrath, Essex Troop No. 3, just after the bell gave his team the one goal lead. The third was the only scoreless period and as a result Essex Troop still led at the intermission, 6 to 5.

Capt. Charles Hodge, Essex Troop No. 2, tallied on a well-executed angle shot in the fourth to increase his team's lead to two goals, but a few moments later Capt. Scott scored on a short drive to cut the opposition's advantage to one. A neat backhand angle shot by Lt. Scott knotted the score in the fifth, and the Division went ahead when Lt. Van Houten tallied just before the gong on a backhand drive. Capt. Harris scored in the sixth as Essex Troop tried vainly to stage a rally.

The line-up

1st Div. A (9) Essex Troop (7)
Lt. J. Van Houten, 1. Lt. F. A. Doetterl
Lt. J. D. Scott, 2. Lt. C. Hodge
Capt. D. M. Scott, 3. Lt. S. A. MacGrath
Capt. T. Harris, Back, Maj. Fred Herr
Goals—First Division A: Lt. Van Houten 3, Lt. Scott 3, Capt. Scott 2, Capt. Harris 1. Essex Troop: Lt. Hodge, Lt. MacGrath, by handicap 5.
Referee, Lt. Col. Charles A. Thuis. Umpires, Maj. A. G. Rudd and Capt. James V. McDowell. Timekeeper and scorers, Capt. Robert J. Hoffman and Lt. John R. Calery. Time of periods, 7½ minutes.

ON THE RANGES

Ft. Hamilton, N. Y.—The Division musketry problem was fired by all rifle units of the 26th Infantry during the past week. Company I attained the highest score, 2750.

Ft. Benning, Ga.—Cpl. Kern's squad of Company B, 29th Infantry, recently won the coveted designation of "The Chief of Infantry's Combat Squad" for the year 1930-1931. Competition among the selected squads representing all the rifle companies was so keen that Cpl. Kern was compelled to push his squad to the limit. In addition to the usual sleeve patch worn by members of the winning squad, special medals will be presented to each member of Cpl. Kern's squad by Col. Duncan K. Major, the regimental commander.

The cannon company competition was won by the 1st platoon of that company, commanded by Sgt. "Tom" Tompkins. Both weapons of the platoon were fired, the 37-mm gun and the mortar. The 37-mm gun commanders were Sgt. Bagwell and Cpl. Hamer, and the mortar commanders were Sgt. Shaw and Cpl. Brewer.

MARINES PLAY TWO GAMES

Since administering a 14 to 0 defeat to the strong John Carroll University eleven in Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 19, Coach Keady, of the All-Marines, has been pointing for the game against Boston College, which is to be played before the American Legion in the Bean Town, Oct. 6. Fenway Park will be the scene of the battle and it is expected that a tremendous crowd will turn out, since those controlling the present convention have decreed that all Legion activities will cease from noon until 10:10 p. m. on the day of the game.

Tonight at the Sesqui Stadium in Philadelphia the All-Marines will take on the Washington College eleven from Chestertown, Md.; Keady, however, is not expecting any trouble from that quarter. This is deduced from the fact that the University of Maryland defeated them by a score of 60 to 6 last Saturday and the Marines and Maryland play about the same brand of ball, having practiced and scrimmaged together for the past four years.

Immediately following the Washington College game, the Marines will hustle down to the Broad Street Station and take a rattler for Boston, where arrangements have been made to quarter them at the exclusive Boston Athletic Club.

Coach Keady announced that the big Marine squad was in the "pink" and confident of administering a defeat to Boston College. Great reliance is being placed in the light but speedy backfield of the Devil Dogs, and it is confidently expected that Boston fans will have their eyes opened by a trio of ball carriers who are no less shifty, speedy or elusive than the great Albie Booth.

The Marines will have their best foot forward and the starting line-up will very probably be the same as used against John Carroll:

Sitton or Pressley, center—170-200.
Truckenmiller, right guard—175.
Cummings, right tackle—200.
Glick, right end—200.
Billingsley, quarterback—145.
Bauer, left halfback—190.
Gotko, right halfback—164.
Long—fullback—168.

Those who will very probably see action in the game are Allen, Butler, Poppleman, Lloyd, McCaffrey, Moe, Popple, Ferrell, O'Donnell and Stuckwisch.

MAXWELL FIELD ATHLETICS

Maxwell Field, Ala.—Though making eight first downs to their opponents four, the Fliers lost the opening game of the season to Lineville Aggies due to a long forward pass in the first quarter.

The team journeyed to Lineville and on a muddy field played good football even though losing. After the first score neither side could counter during the rest of the game.

J. Tarprey was the big gun for the Fliers' ball team, publication of the records reveal. His average of .414 topped the rest of team by 11 points, while he led in runs scored with 39, was ahead in the number of doubles and triples hit and was tied for the lead in home runs.

Lefty Allison was selected by the Acme Roofers to accompany them on their trip to Cincinnati, Ohio, where they will participate for the sandlot championship of the United States with teams from all over the country.

ARMY MEETS FURMAN

West Point, N. Y.—Known as the "Purple Hurricane," the Furman University football team from Greenville, S. C., will face the Army football team at West Point today.

The Furman attack as developed by their head coach, "Dad" Amis, is based on punting and passing. All reports are that the visitors have the strongest team in the history of their institution. In addition to a spectacular brand of football, the "Purple Hurricane" squad will be uniformed in bright purple breeches, white head-guards and white jerseys with purple arm stripes. Indications are that the Army pass defense will be thoroughly tested.

Maj. Sasse, Army head coach, spent this week's practice periods in smoothing out his offensive running plays. Blocking in last Saturday's game was far below expectations and both the linemen and backs came in for considerable drilling in this important phase. Army kickers' attempts to kick the extra point after a touchdown were also disappointing and Herb, Letzelter and Glatly spent some time practicing placements. In the past, Army teams have all been good in collecting the final point.

Army coaches were pleased with the keen competition which has developed for the quarterback position. Bowman, Carver and MacWilliam all worked against Boston University, each trying to surpass the other. At present Bowman appears to have a slight advantage.

The new Army attack with every back a ball carrier and the deception in the backfield, gave the spectators of the opening game a most interesting afternoon.

NEVADA IN LEAD

With two firsts and a second, the USS Nevada is well in the lead for the Commander-in-Chief's rowing trophy for the battleships at the end of the Fall events.

The standing of the ships:

	Points Possible	Points Made	Per Cent
Nevada	160	128	80.0
Idaho	160	75	46.9
New Mexico	70	28	40.0
Maryland	160	50	31.2
Mississippi	90	26	28.9
Oklahoma	160	40	25.0
Tennessee	160	34	21.2
California	90	0	00.0
New York	160	0	00.0

The Oklahoma won the selected whaleboat race at San Pedro recently. The Nevada was second, the Mississippi third, and the Maryland fourth.

FT. MEADE BASEBALL

Ft. Meade, S. D.—The baseball season came to a close here Wednesday, Sept. 24, insofar as the Post League is concerned.

Headquarters Troop, 4th Cavalry, smarting from the defeat suffered at the hands of the Troop E team, Sept. 8, and in fact the only defeat they have suffered in the Post League this season, came out on the diamond on Sept. 24 with blood in their eyes and a bat in either hand and pounced on "Jimmies Harps" in the first inning for four runs and kept on running throughout the game. The final score was 32 to 2, thus giving the Headquarters Troop the baseball championship for the 1930 season.

FT. BENNING FOOTBALL

Ft. Benning, Ga.—Football is occupying the attention of sport followers at Ft. Benning, these days, with a team from practically every outfit at the post out chasing the pigskin.

The Gunners of the 83rd Field Artillery, went through their first light scrimmage last week. The Gunner backfield shows plenty of speed but appears a bit light. Although the Gunners will probably be represented by a light backfield, they boast a two-ton line. New additions since last season have given them almost a new line and if beef and brawn count for anything, they will have one of the strongest lines in the Benning conference.

The Tankers, with a battalion of candidates out for practice, are divided into four squads. With this wealth of material and experienced coaches, the Tankers promise to be even stronger this year than ever before. Last season's championship team is back this year with but a few exceptions. The line will carry McKelvey, Pierce, Hull, Willingham, Lindsey, Stewart and Brown, while Joris, Bennett, Sullivan and "Cueball" Smith will be running wild in the backfield. In addition to these old timers, several of the first year men loom as threats for first position berths.

The three teams of the 29th Infantry Battalions are now somewhere in the red hills of South Georgia. The regiment will return to Benning, Oct. 5, and the Kells, Irishmen and Spareparts will settle down to the training grind.

The Spareparts are the newest entry, representing the Special Units of the 29th Infantry. The first call for candidates was answered by 90 of the huskiest members of the organization. The first week of practice left Capt. Joiner, head coach, and Sgt. Larry Mitzen, assistant coach, wearing big smiles. "For beginners we are going to make some of those teams sit up and take notice," is the way Sgt. Mitzen expressed his feelings about the team's future.

Little or nothing is known of the prospects of the Kells or Irishmen. Although far from championship caliber, the Irish team of the past seasons have been noted for their fighting ability. With most of last season's team back and many new additions the Irish are expected to be in the thick of the fight when the season opens.

The Kells are an unknown quantity. Few of last year's regulars will be back in the line-up this season and the team will be almost completely rebuilt from the rough. Among the men that will be missing from last season are Franz, Allison, Oikra and Stamper. Their places will be hard to fill from among the youngsters that came out for first practice. Another loss to the "Dutch" will hold down the center position with the Spareparts in the coming struggle.

FT. RUSSELL BOXING

Ft. D. A. Russell.—An enthusiastic crowd witnessed the boxing card Sept. 20, which furnished about everything in the way of a variety and action known to the fistic game.

The first preliminary, scheduled for four rounds, ended in the first stanza when Joe Heck, Troop F stalwart, floored Gnr. Crawford, of the machine gun troop, for the count.

While the first six-round bout brought together two of the fastest middleweights in these parts, both soldiers, Slugger Hill, Troop F, who is building quite a reputation for knockouts, stopped Battling Bruno, of Troop E, in the fifth.

In the second final Ramirez won after one round, it being apparent that he was too fast and too experienced for the boy with whom he was matched. In the semi-windup Babe Hummel, 168-pound husky of Troop A, won over Bert Titus in the third session. This was a nice scrap while it lasted.

The final of the evening was unfortunately a disappointment to the fans because it was stopped on a foul called by the referee when the battle was still young and victory for either boy in the balance. Red Allen, of Alpine, was the winner over Joe Sedlack, of Troop A.

NAVY OPENS SEASON

Annapolis, Md.—Navy opens her 1930 football season today against stiff opposition, but has rounded into shape during the excellent football weather of the past week and expects a victory.

William and Mary is reported as having practically the same team as last year when, it will be recalled, Navy's first string was able to score two points only in the first half. The final score was 15 to 0.

With the Notre Dame game only a week off, Bill Ingram has been pointing his charges more definitely during the past week for this contest. The "B" Squad has been drilling in the Notre Dame formations.

The probable line-up to be started against the William and Mary Indians is as follows:

R. E. Byng, R. T. Bryan, R. G. Underwood, C. Black, L. G. Gray, L. T. Bowstrom, L. E. Smith, Q. B. Denny, H. B. Kirm, H. B. Tschirgi, F. B. Hagberg.

COLORADO FOOTBALL

With Ens. James G. Lang in charge as head coach, the USS Colorado football team expects to have a good season.

A husky squad has been training for some weeks. The following group of backs is showing up well: Weaver, Ashby, Hirsefeld, Goodwin, Neverdusky, Johnson, Piper, Gladfeller, Wells, Palova, Kawalleski, Cavallini.

In the 200 pound line Banks will likely have first call at center, though Johnson is developing rapidly. Armstrong, line coach and guard, is one of the reliables. With him at guard are Tumbleson, Davis, Kelly, Lucas, Gerki, Miller.

At tackle they have their reliable All-Navy tackle, McKenzie; Foster, Ferriek, Skaggs, Austin are likewise some of their mainstays. Clarke, Frickman, Saunders, West, Palmer and Kippen fill up the end positions.

SAN DIEGO MARINES LOSE

San Francisco, Calif.—Duplicating their opening victory over the Army, the Winged "O" Warriors of the Olympic Club defeated the San Diego Marines at Dezar Stadium, 19 to 0.

Defeat of the Marines was due to a bad break in the first quarter which gave the Olympics their first touchdown and to heavier artillery which the clubmen held in reserve.

A bad pass from center started the trouble. Ritters, Marine backfield man, scampered back 15 yards to his own five-yard line to retrieve the ball, but just as he fastened himself to the pigskin he was hit hard by Ed Kuhn, O. C. tackle, and the ball popped out of his arms into the mitts of Hodge Davidson, club end. It was no effort at all for Davidson to step over the line for a touchdown, which he did.

In the third period Coach Johnny Blewett shoved a slender lad named Callahan into his backfield and the Leathernecks began acting up. Callahan started things with a nine-yard gallop, caught a pass from Donnelly for ten more, and the Marines arrived only six yards from the club's goal line when a 34-yard heave, Donnelly to Mat-hoit, connected. A fumble, recovered by Estes of the club, cut the Marine threat short.

But even that did not dampen the Leatherneck's ardor. Injuries forced the speedy Callahan out of the game late in the fourth stanza and his place was taken by Gnr. Sgt. Willis Ryckman, a tough veteran who has grown bald in his country's service. Ryckman's first gesture was to intercept one of Lausten's passes and gallop 20 yards. He made ten more on a lateral, but on the club's 20-yard line the going became tough and as a last resort Trees of the Marines attempted a place kick. He got off what looked to be a beauty, but it missed the cross-bar by half a foot.

The Olympians' other scores came in the second and fourth quarters. The second touchdown came after a 60-yard march down the field, showing considerable in the way of power. The last one was the result of a 15-yard run and a pass.

SATURDAY, OCT. 4, 1930

"The inability to draw a salary adequate for the demands of dignity has forced many officers from the service into civilian employment in recent years, and that condition constitutes a national danger."—HONOLULU STAR-BULLETIN.

CONCENTRATED SUPPORT of the pay and promotion recommendations of the Interdepartmental Pay Board will be the satisfactory consequences of the cooperation of the Board with the Bureau of Efficiency and the Comptroller General. A representative of the Bureau is sitting with the Board, and thus will participate in its deliberations and probably in its findings. The Comptroller General will be requested to make comments upon the Board's report. Probably he will be consulted in advance, so that any objections which may offer themselves in his mind, will be met.

THUS, THE CONGRESSIONAL PAY COMMISSION, when it reassembles will be faced by the united views not only of representatives of the Services but of the Bureau whose duty it is to promote efficiency in every department of the Government, and of the official who is charged by law with the duty of collecting information regarding the powers, duties, activities, organization and methods of business of every governmental office. Obviously, it will be exceedingly difficult for the President to disapprove recommendations made by four of his executive departments—Treasury, War, Navy and Interior, and the Bureau of Efficiency and the Comptroller General. Even should he do so, Congress doubtless would compare his reasoning with that of his subordinates. Moreover, the strong public sentiment back of the pay increase proposal, based solely upon knowledge of the crying need which exists, will have its influence upon Congressional action.

NUMEROUS ADVANTAGES LIE in the purchase and use of brand products. First, and above all, there is the assurance of the high character of the product. No manufacturer with a brand would dare to permit ingredients to be employed which might affect quality. A brand has value when it is placed and pushed on the market, and in order to maintain and develop its sale it must accord with the claims made for it. The Army, the Navy and the Marine Corps have become brand purchasers, but only, as Maj. Gen. John L. DeWitt, the Quartermaster General, pointed out in an article in our issue of last week, when there is demand at a post or station. If there is no demand, then proposals are invited in accordance with specifications and every one is allowed to bid. We feel the Quartermaster General, in pursuing the policy of brand purchase, is not only providing quality, but is helping to stimulate competition among manufacturers, not in price, as is the case with unbranded goods, but in products which they regard as worthy to bear their stamp. It follows, with the Services buying brands, that greater use for them will be found to the advantage of the producer and consumer.

JAPAN, FINALLY, has ratified the London disarmament Treaty. The question of ratification related not at all to the effect of the Treaty upon Japanese national defense but to that of control of the Navy and its policies. Every student in Japan realizes that as a result of the cuts which must be made by the western nations, the position of the Tokyo Government becomes the stronger. While there will be a saving of $260,000,000 during the next five years, the concessions made to the Far Eastern country are such as to make it a more dangerous adversary to any power seeking to question its control in the Far East.

THERE IS NO DOUBT that the situation in the Pacific is being discussed by the Imperial Conference, which is sitting in London. On the agenda of that conference is "Foreign policy and national defense." Canada and Australia are concerned about the Pacific and the relations to be maintained with China and Japan; and there also are involved the possibilities that may arise from the independence movement in India. It is certain the Conference is laying down definite lines of cooperation in national defense, and also formulating a policy in connection with disarmament, which will assure British security. Probably, the Imperial representatives will take into consideration the increase of the French Navy and the attitude of Italy thereto; and will agree with the MacDonald Government that it will be wise to take advantage of the escalator clause in the London treaty if France persists in her building program. In that case, what will the United States do?

A CONVENTION was signed at Geneva this week by 28 nations guaranteeing financial assistance to a state which is the victim of attack by another nation. This is a step toward mobilization of the wealth of the world against an offender. It would prove a powerful weapon where the guilt of a warring nation is established. But the location of such guilt is a matter of extreme difficulty. When the Allies were victorious in 1918, they were able to fasten the responsibility for the World War upon the German Government. This is a judgment which the Germans have never accepted. Nations embarking upon war are careful to show that there has been provocation from the enemy, and that provocation, as is clear, can be incited through incidents created by subordinates of the innocent country. We presume that investigation must be inaugurated immediately after the outbreak of war in order to fix the guilt, and until it is concluded financial assistance will be withheld. There are also selfish interests in the neutral states, which will insist upon withholding financial assistance. Moreover, if such assistance be rendered in accordance with agreement, will not neutrality cease and the nation giving it be regarded as an enemy? In any case, will not financial assistance be followed by military assistance. There are so many problems involved in this apparently wise move to prevent war that they are worthy of careful study. The United States has not signed the Treaty. We cannot believe it will do so.

Possibly His First

USMA—In which of his battles was Alexander the Great killed?

USNA—I think it was his last.

—Contributed.

Fond of Mother

Captain—Say, James, why did you leave Boston to take shore duty at Norfolk?

Commander—I want to be nearer to my mother-in-law; she lives in Seattle.

—Contributed.

Age Before Beauty

Sergeant—Private Jones, go and fetch the oldest horse in the stable.

Private Jones—Why the old horse, Sergeant?

Sergeant—Wear out the old ones first—that's my motto.

Private—Well, Sergeant, then you fetch the horse!

—Contributed.

It's Worse Than That

In the game it's GRIT, commented the Marine football coach, but in the spinach it's terrible.—Contributed.

Familiar Faces

Sailor's Sweetheart—Am I the first girl you have ever kissed?

Salty Sam—Oh, now that you mention it, you do look familiar.

—Contributed.

At Least She Knows Him

Colonel—And furthermore, young lady, I want you to come home from the hop at a reasonable hour, and not with the milkman.

Daughter—Don't be absurd, father, he will not even be there.

—Contributed.

No Poetry In This

Lt. Jones was showing his friend his new car, boasting proudly about this, that and the other feature.

"Well, what do you think of it?" asked Lt. Jones.

"Humph," growled Capt. Smith, his friend, "I should have thought you would have had something more uncommon."

"It is uncommon, very uncommon," stated Lt. Jones. "It's paid for."

—Contributed.

Humph! Not At All

"And you know, sonny, I started life as a barefoot boy," said the pompous old colonel to his small son.

"Was I born with shoes on, daddy?" asked the child looking down at his feet.

Paint Makes the Angel

Young Army Wife—He told me that I reminded him of Raphael's angel!

Young Army Husband—Yes, I suppose you do. Raphael's angel was painted, too, wasn't it?

IN THE JOURNAL 60 YEARS AGO

British army authorities are now occupied in making competitive trials with the Gatling and Fossberry battery guns. The large Gatling fired 270 bullets in 1 minute, 45 seconds, and then gave out of ammunition; the mitrailleur fired 367 bullets in 2 minutes, 43 seconds and then jammed. The target work of the Gatling came in for much praise by the officers.

Russia is arming, and if her designs do not threaten the territory of the "sick man," the "sick man" at least interprets them so. Austria is in no position to interfere with Russia's designs, and if Prussia and Russia keep on good terms, the Czar may take up his winter residence in Constantinople.

Completion of an examination for the first three classes of the Signal Corps has been made and the graduates will be assigned to duty in various parts of the country at military posts and elsewhere. One station will be at Louisville, Ky.; another Denver, another at Cheyenne, another at Lake City, Fla.; another at New Orleans, another at San Francisco, and others scattered at various points on the northern lakes.

Maj. Chauncey B. Reese, CE, USA, died of yellow fever, Sept. 22, according to a wire just received. Maj. Reese graduated from the Military Academy in 1859, and served through the war; he was breveted a brigadier general for conspicuous services while with Sherman in Georgia.

First Division Notes

The 1st Bn., 28th Inf., left Madison Barracks, N. Y., Sept. 23, on the annual Practice March. On arrival at Pine Camp, N. Y., Sept. 25, 1930, marches will be made each day radiating from Pine Camp as a base. Full field equipment will be taken by the men and camp made each night while on the road. At other times the battalion returns to the permanent camp at Pine Camp.

Marches are to be made under the assumed tactical situations, including at least one night each march. While at Pine Camp, tactical exercises and combat firing in preparation for the annual tactical inspection will be conducted.

In the equipment for the march, the following will be taken: Four escort wagons, 1 animal drawn ambulance, 2nd Brigade Headquarters Company will have as its equipment, one escort wagon, 3 communication carts with radio and telephone equipment, 3 bicycles. Lt. Edward Jenkins is the commanding officer of the Headquarters Company.

The 3rd Bn. Infantry, departed from Ft. Ontario, N. Y., Sept. 22, 1930, for the annual two weeks' practice march. The first day they marched a distance of nine miles and made a semi-permanent camp at South New Haven, N. Y. On Tuesday and Wednesday the battalion marched to a nearby maneuver area where a two-sided maneuver was held. Thursday a march of 12 miles was made where an over-night camp was established at Mount Pleasant, N. Y. On Friday the battalion moved to Russ Mills for a second over-night camp and then returned to South New Haven on Saturday to spend the week-end in their semi-permanent camp.

The regimental commander, Lt. Col. Donald D. Hay, reviewed the 26th Infantry at an evening parade Sept. 25, and again on the morning of Sept. 26.

The troops of Ft. Niagara, N. Y., on their annual practice march, encamped for a few days at Delaware Park, Buffalo. It is an excellent location for such an encampment, with fine parade grounds, and plenty of room for all formations. The people of Buffalo welcomed the soldiers and throngs of visitors came to the camp throughout the day, watching the drills and formations, and visiting with the officers and men after formations were over. That the men enjoyed it was evidenced by the remark of some of the men that "Buffalo is a soldier's paradise." The troops returned to Ft. Niagara Sept. 30.

The annual tactical inspection of the 1st Engineers and Ft. DuPont by the Commanding General, 2nd Corps Area, was conducted at the Ft. on Sept. 25. The manner of performance of the troops at the inspection and the carrying out of the problem assigned by the Commanding General was excellent and a very creditable impression was created.

DANDRUFF?Men in Uniform—

MEN in uniform must be particularly careful about dandruff.

A "white coat collar" does not go so well at inspection.

To overcome dandruff, there is nothing better than Listerine, the safe antiseptic. Try this treatment if you are troubled this way. It really does the trick.

Just apply Listerine clear. Then massage vigorously. Use it systematically because dandruff is a germ disease easy to check but often difficult to cure.

You will be most pleased with the results from Listerine for this purpose. Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, USA.

OBITUARIES

Announcement of deaths should be addressed to Editorial Office, Army and Navy Journal, Architects Building, Washington, D. C.

VICE ADM. ALBERT WESTON Grant, USN, ret., died at the Naval Hospital, Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 30, 1930.

Adm. Grant retired from active service while Commandant of the Washington Navy Yard, on April 14, 1920, after more than 46 years' service in the Navy.

Adm. Grant was born in East Benton, Me., April 14, 1856, and was appointed a cadet midshipman from the 8th District of Wisconsin, June 10, 1873. He was commissioned ensign 1881, promoted to lieutenant (jg) 1887, lieutenant 1893, lieutenant commander 1900, commander 1905, captain 1909, rear admiral 1915, and held the rank of vice admiral while Commander, Battleship Force One, Atlantic Fleet, during the World War. He was given a commission as vice admiral on the retired list of the Navy in Aug., 1930, in accordance with the Act of Congress, June 21, 1930, "to give war-time rank to retired officers and former officers of the Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard."

During the Spanish-American War, he was on board the Massachusetts and participated in the Battle of Santiago, Cuba. In Sept., 1898, he was attached to the Machias, and in 1900 was ordered to duty at the Naval Academy. In 1902 he was executive officer of the Oregon and in July, 1903, was in command of the Frolic. He returned to the Naval Academy for duty in 1905. After completing the War College course in Oct., 1907, he was given command of the Arethusa.

He was chief of staff, Atlantic Fleet, on the flagship Connecticut, on the cruise around the world in 1908 and in 1909, and later was in command of the Connecticut. In 1910 he was Commandant of the Fourth Naval District and the Navy Yard in Philadelphia.

Adm. Grant commanded the Atlantic Reserve Fleet from Nov. 12, 1912 to Jan. 31, 1913, and in Feb., 1913, was given additional duty as Supervisor of 3rd, 4th and 5th Naval Districts. In July, 1913, Adm. Grant was assigned to the Newport News Shipbuilding Co., in connection with the completing of the Texas and in command when she was commissioned Mar. 12, 1914. On June 3, 1915, he was appointed Commander, Submarine Force, Atlantic Fleet, and in July, 1917, was given command of Battleship Force One, Atlantic Fleet, with rank of Vice Admiral.

Adm. Grant was awarded the Navy Distinguished Service Medal with the citation:

"For exceptionally meritorious service in a duty of great responsibility as commander of Battleship Force 1, Atlantic Fleet, and further for the efficient manner in which he commanded the Atlantic Fleet in the Western Atlantic in the absence of the commander-in-chief during Sept., Oct., Nov., and Dec., 1918."

In March, 1919, Adm. Grant was appointed Commandant of the Washington Navy Yard and Superintendent of the Navy Gun Factory, and he retired on Apr. 14, 1920, upon reaching the statutory retiring age of 64 years. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Florence S. Grant.

Funeral services for Brig. Gen. Arthur W. Yates, who died Sept. 25 at the Stanford University Hospital, San Francisco, Calif., held at the Presidio of San Francisco Chapel Sept. 29 at 11 a.m. with full military honors.

Honorary pallbearers were Maj. Gen. James A. McRae, USA, ret.; Brig. Gen. Richard M. Blatchford, USA, ret.; Col. Patrick H. Mullan, USA, ret.; Col. John R. R. Hannay, QMC.; Col. Edwin S. Hartshorn, GSC., and Mr. Charles Steward.

The funeral escort consisted of the 30th Inf. Regiment and Band, while the services were conducted by Chap. George F. Rixey.

At the conclusion of the services the remains were escorted to the Lombard Street Gate of the Presidio and turned over to the undertaker for shipment to and internment at Arlington Cemetery, Washington, D. C.

Maj. Albert Kalb, USA, ret., died Sept. 29, 1930, by jumping overboard from the steamship Harvard, enroute to Letterman General Hospital, Presidio of San Francisco, Calif.

Maj. Kalb was born in Bavaria,

Germany, Feb. 5, 1870. He served as private and trumpeter, Troop F, 8th Cavalry, from Oct. 13, 1888, to Oct. 12, 1893; private, corporal, sergeant and 1st sergeant, Troop F, 8th Cavalry, from Oct. 16, 1893, to Oct. 15, 1898; sergeant and post quartermaster sergeant, Troop C, 3rd Cavalry, from Oct. 19, 1898, to date of retirement, for disability in line of duty, Sept. 29, 1913; appointed Captain, Quartermaster Section, Officers' Reserve Corps, July 7, 1917; promoted Major, Quartermaster Corps, National Army, Jan. 31, 1918; vacated Sept. 25, 1920; appointed Captain, Quartermaster Corps, Regular Army, July 1, 1920; accepted Sept. 25, 1920; retired Aug. 12, 1927; promoted Major, ret., Act June 21, 1930.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Clara B. Kalb, 4620 West Talmadge Drive, San Diego, Calif.

A great loss to his many friends, and the disappearance of a figure of great power and responsibility in the financial world, was the result of the death of Mr. Daniel Guggenheim, caused by heart disease at Port Washington, L. I., Sept. 28.

With Mr. Guggenheim when he died were his wife and son, Harry F. Guggenheim, Ambassador to Cuba; his daughter, Mrs. Roger W. Strauss, and her husband. Another son, Col. M. Robert Guggenheim, USA, was on duty with the War Department in Washington and was summoned by telegraph.

The funeral was held Sept. 30, 1930, at Temple Emanu-El, New York City, and services were conducted by Dr. Nathan Krass. Burial was from Salem Fields Cemetery, Brooklyn.

The name of Daniel Guggenheim was written large in the romance of American mining and his interests in the field of minerals were virtually worldwide. His was a career of success upon success, but outstanding achievements failed to mar the man; they served to stimulate his humanity.

Daniel Guggenheim was born on July 9, 1856, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was educated at one of the Philadelphia High Schools and completed his education in Switzerland. He was married July 22, 1884, to Miss Florence Schloss. Two sons, Col. M. Robert Guggenheim, USA, and Mr. Harry Frank Guggenheim, and a daughter, Miss Gladys Eleanor Guggenheim, were born.

It is needless to make a list here of the many large enterprises with which his name was identified. They embraced interests in many lines of activity and in many countries. In them all, his marked business talent was over a long period of years successfully displayed, and his reputation as a far-sighted planner, a gifted organizer, and a company administrator whose methods were always sound and conservative while never failing in a progressive and humane attitude toward his great army of workers, became higher and more admired as time passed.

Throughout his long career, Mr. Guggenheim's name was the very synonym of fair dealing and large-mindedness. In any time of emergency or distress his public spirit could always be counted upon.

Some of the large and beneficent philanthropies in which he took pleasure are publicly known. The way in which his mind, even in later life, was always forward-looking, was fully exemplified in the large gifts which he made, and the endowment which he financed, for the advancement of aviation. In that field alone his work was enough to signalize his name. But there was always something about him greater in his personality than in any particular thing which he did. He was a man of generous friendships. In public affairs he will be sorely missed and in private life sincerely mourned.

Among the many expressions of sympathy poured in upon the family from all parts of the world, were those received from Assistant Secretary of War for Aeronautics, F. Turbee Davidson, who said:

"Daniel Guggenheim was not only a world figure in business and industry, but he was unique for the tremendous interest he took in the advance of aviation and especially safe aviation. Under the auspices of the fund that he established most important strides were made toward the attainment of a safe plane, and under the sponsorship of Mr. Guggenheim fog, the airman's greatest enemy, was conquered. Mr. Guggenheim, I believe, made the greatest individual contribution to the advancement of safe aviation."

Assistant Secretary of the Navy, in Charge of Naval Aeronautics, David S. Ingalls, who said:

Weddings

THE marriage of Miss Rose Bullard, daughter of Maj. Gen. Robt. Lee Bullard, USA, ret., and Mrs. Bullard, to Mr. Edmund B. Bellinger, son of Mrs. Maude C. Bellinger, of New York, and Brig. Gen. John B. Bellinger, USA, of Washington, D. C., took place Sept. 21. The ceremony was performed in the Church of the Magdalene on Bedford Road in the Potomac Hills, N. Y., the pastor, the Rev. Father Dineen, officiating in the presence of a small company of members of the families. Mr. Bellinger and his bride will be at home after October 10 at 166 East Ninety-sixth Street, New York City.

Miss Bullard is a graduate of the Convent of the Sacred Heart, at Manhattanville. Her father is one of the most famous military figures in the United States. When, in 1925, he was retired at the Army's age limit of 64, he has participated in all the major warfares of this country, from early Indian raids and skirmishes of 1885 to the World War.

His 40 years of active service was one of the most colorful careers of professional soldiering in this country. The peak of his fame was reached at the second battle of the Marne in 1918, when he refused to obey the order of a superior to retreat, and wrote the famous message, concluding: "We will counter-attack," swinging the tide of battle finally against the German offensive.

Since his retirement, Gen. Bullard has devoted the greater part of his time to the activities of the National Security League, of which he is president. In addition to his fame as a soldier, he has commanded attention by his writings, which are valuable additions to the military records of the country.

Mr. Bellinger was graduated from West Point in 1918, and from the Fordham Law School, New York. He is practicing law at 52 Wall Street. He is a brother of Mr. Frederic Coudert Bellinger, of Capt. John B. Bellinger, jr., and of Mr. Rene Du C. Bellinger.

He is a grandson of the late Frederick R. Coudert of New York.

Before a large gathering of relatives and friends Sept. 21, Miss Sara Burnett DuTart and Lt. Hampden E. Montgomery, USA, were married at St. Andrews Episcopal Chapel, Ft. Moultrie, S. C., by the Rev. Wm. B. Sams.

The chapel was beautifully decorated for the wedding in green and white which, with the many lighted candles in handsome brass candelabra, made a lovely setting for the wedding.

The bride came in on the arm of her brother, Mr. Samuel DuTart, and was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Mr. Julius Weston.

The bride was very becomingly gowned in a handsome afternoon costume of brown crepe satin with hat and accessories to match, and carried an armful of lovely pink roses.

The bride's only attendant, Mrs. Julian Weston, matron of honor, was dressed in a lovely blue afternoon frock with matching accessories, and also carried pink roses.

After the wedding Lt. and Mrs. Montgomery and the wedding party were entertained by Mrs. Louise F. Taylor with a dinner party.

Lt. Montgomery has been stationed at Ft. Moultrie, S. C., with the 8th Inf., but having recently received orders to report for duty at Ft. McPherson, Ga., the charming couple, after a short honeymoon, will be at home to their many friends at Ft. McPherson, Ga.

Of much interest was the announcement of the advancement of the wedding date of Miss Frances Huey, charming daughter of Col. and Mrs. James McEnery Huey, USMC, ret., and Ens. Gordon S. Everett, USN. The marriage, which was to have taken place in December, was solemnized Sept. 30, due to the fact that the young officer was able to secure leave from his ship at this time and not later as first was planned.

The marriage of Miss Alice Madeline Nichols, only daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Carroll Leja Nichols, of Brooklyn, N. Y., to Lt. Robert Louis Brunzell, son of Lt. Col. Otto L. Brunzell, USA, and Mrs. Brunzell, took place in the Cadet Chapel, West Point, N. Y., in the presence of 500 relatives and friends. Chap. Arthur B. Kinsolving officiated and Mr. Frederic Meyer played the organ during the ceremony.

The bride's gown was of ivory satin, trimmed with real lace and the cap of real lace, which held in place her veil, was worn by her grandmother, Madame Morisini, at her wedding. She carried a shower bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley.

Miss Edith Mapes, of Montclair, N. J., was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Jean Harding, Dorothy Fogwell, Jane Kelley, Virginia Reed, Fannie Ingalls and Muriel Springreen, all of Brooklyn, N. Y. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Lt. Brunzell had as his best man his father, Lt. Col. Otto L. Brunzell, USA, and the ushers were Cadets Morgan, Williams, Ondrich, Churchill, Fagan and Kohls. As the bride and groom left the chapel they passed beneath the arched sabres held by the ushers.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the ballroom of the Hotel Thayer which was decorated with Autumn flowers and leaves.

One of the most beautiful weddings of the early Autumn season took place Sept. 24, when Miss Ann Timberlake, daughter of Mrs. Stanley M. Timberlake, of Indianapolis, became the bride of Lt. Douglass Pollock Johnson, USN.

Mrs. D. S. Mills, of Coronado, formerly of Indianapolis, was matron of honor.

Lt. Johnson's best man was his brother, Capt. William Walker Johnson, of Cincinnati. The ushers were Lts. I. Conway, E. R. De Long, Max Browder, W. W. Smith, W. S. Tomlinson and A. O. Weller, classmates of Lt. Johnson at Annapolis.

Seattle—The 95th pursuit squadron at Rockwell Field, San Diego, this week received its second consignment of new type pursuit planes from the Boeing Airplane Company of Seattle, when Rockwell pilots ferried four new single-seaters south from Seattle to San Diego. The squadron had previously taken delivery of three of the new Boeing pursuits built for the Army Air Corps.

Lts. Eugene C. Batten, Joseph G. Hopkins, Edward W. Anderson and William W. Caldwell were the 95th pursuit squadron flyers who flew the planes south.

"Attack" Airdrome

SCENES reminiscent of the late war will be reenacted on or about Nov. 1 at Camp Stanley, near San Antonio, Tex., when a squadron of 18 planes from the 3rd Attack Group, Ft. Crockett, Tex., will be given real targets at which to shoot in the form of 20 condemned airplanes which are no longer fit for service. These wornout planes will be arranged on the ground to simulate a squadron airdrome in war-time. The attackers will launch successive assaults against them, employing small fragmentation bombs and 100-pound demolition bombs, in order to determine the relative efficiency of these two missiles in the destruction of aircraft on the ground. Following the assaults with the bombs, the attackers will once more swoop over the old planes and rain down upon them tracer ammunition in order to test the incendiary effect thereof against airplane structures and gasoline tanks.

This will be the first time any test of this nature has been undertaken by the Air Corps.

High NG Qualifications

Albany, N. Y.—The 10th Infantry, New York National Guard, Col. Charles E. Walsh, commanding, with Headquarters at Albany, N. Y., has just finished its tour of field duty at Camp Smith, Peekskill, N. Y.

This regiment with an allotted strength of 1,200 officers and men had an attendance of 1,189 officers and men for this duty, and also made the highest number of qualifications in the State in every arm, making 155 more qualifications than the next highest regiment in the State. Regiments competing were the 10th, 14th, 71st, 105th, 106th, 107th, 108th, 165th, 175th, and 369th. The number of qualifications made are as follows: Rifle, 569; Howitzer, 62; Auto Rifle, 54; Machine Gun, 119; Bayonets, 87; Pistols, 304; Total qualifications, 1,195.

The Howitzer Company made the highest number of qualifications in the State. Co. D, Machine Gun Unit, had the highest number of qualifications, namely 52. Lt. W. Reynolds Carr of this company made the highest individual record of any man in the State, a total of 327. Co. I made 65 qualifications with the rifle out of an aggregate strength of 70; 75% of the company qualified as experts. This wins the U. S. Rifle Trophy, given by the War Department to the company obtaining the highest figure of merits in the United States.

The officers and men of the regiment are interested in obtaining information as to the number of qualifications made by any regiment in any of the other States, in order to ascertain the comparative standing. It is requested that this information be sent to the Army and Navy Journal.

Nearly every regiment in the State increased its qualifications by at least 25%, due largely to the efforts of Col. Alexander J. Macnab, jr., USA.

Colorado ROA Meeting

Denver.—The 7th Annual Convention of the Colorado Department of the Reserve Officers Association is now past history. Under the guidance of Capt. James W. Champlin, QM-Res., the committee on arrangements left nothing undone to insure a successful convention. Capt. Earle Jones with his reception committee registered 150 officers and their ladies.

The morning session was opened by the invocation by Maj. William L. Blaker, Chap-Res., after which the Highlander Boys presented a most impressive flag ceremony. Mayor Benjamin F. Stapleton, of Denver, gave an address of welcome and Comdr. L. E. Bratton, USN, ret., and now Commissioner of Safety of Denver, gave an address on "The Navy's Viewpoint."

The Department Secretary, Capt. James R. Hoffman, Inf.-Res., then made a resume of the year's activities of the Association in his report. Colorado now has one-third more members than ever before and five new active chapters, Arkansas Valley, Sterling, Morgan County, Rifle and Durango, have been chartered.

The address of the president, Lt. Col. Frazer Arnold, Inf.-Res., was well received. Preparedness and censor for the so-called pacifist was the keynote of the interest created.

Capt. Huber Walters, Chap-Res., gave the invocation at the stag luncheon. Brig. Gen. W. C. Brown, USA, ret., spoke at the luncheon and introduced Brig. Gen. Charles R. Howland, Commanding Officer of Ft. Warren, who made a most excellent address. He said that the Army and the Navy are instruments of peace rather than of war.

At the afternoon session Col. George W. Steuart, Chief of Staff of 103rd Division, spoke on the "Reserve Officer" and his responsibility in National Defense.

The Resolutions Committee made the most outstanding report. Resolutions were adopted attacking the Colorado Methodist conference for opposing military training in the high schools and colleges of Colorado, approving the Reserve Officers Insurance Association, requesting the University of Colorado to forthwith apply for an ROTC unit, approving the Army pay bill increasing the pay of officers, and endorsing the program for observance of the Two Hundredth Anniversary of the Birth of George Washington.

Definite steps were taken to stimulate the interest of officers throughout the State in pistol and rifle marksmanship and a permanent committee will be appointed to aid in the fostering of practice and matches.

The report of the CMTC and ROTC committee stressed the need of further cooperation of Reserve Officers in procuring enrollment for the CMTC. The ROA chapters at Golden and Ft. Collins were urged to secure the senior ROTC students as associate members in the association without dues and to keep in touch with the students after graduation.

The following officers were elected for the coming year:

Lt. Col. Sidney Potter, of Pueblo, president; Capt. James R. Hoffman, Denver, vice president, 1st Dist.; Capt. Henry B. Abbott, Boulder, vice president, 2nd Dist.; Lt. Col. W. C. Bennett, La Junta, vice president, 3rd Dist.; Lt. Charles R. Neill, Hotchkiss, vice president, 4th Dist.; Lt. Raymond Redmond, Pueblo, Secretary-Treasurer. Pueblo was selected as the 1931 convention city.

Capt. James R. Hoffman was elected delegate to the National Convention in New Orleans and officially designated as chairman of the committee to invite and bring the National Convention to Denver in 1932.

A pistol competition was held at the rifle range under the direction of Lt. Benjamin F. Dies, captain of the Denver team, which won the match in competition with teams from Boulder, Colorado Springs and Pueblo. Lt. Fred F. Thompson won the high individual scoring medal with a total of 94.3.

At 7:30 the annual dinner dance was held in the Venetian Gardens of the Shirley-Savoy. Capt. James R. Hoffman, president of the Denver chapter, was toastmaster; the speakers included Lt. B. H. Freye, Col. George W. Stuart, and the president-elect, Lt. Col. Sidney Potter, and the pistol trophies were awarded.

Economy Move Hits USNR

AS a part of the economy program instituted by the President, and which has made necessary a thirty million dollar cut in the Navy's expense account, Naval Reserve activities will be curtailed during the remainder of the year.

Purchases of equipment will be delayed and payment held over until next year whenever possible and operating schedules of Naval Reserve vessels will feel the economy movement.

As a further move, periods of equivalent instruction or duty for officers and men of the Naval Reserve have been restricted. In a circular letter issued recently, the Chief of the Bureau of Navigation directed that:

"Beginning Oct. 1, 1930, and until further orders, no periods of equivalent instruction or duty be authorized for members of the Fleet Naval Reserve, or Divisions thereof, except as indicated herein below.

"During the period from Oct. 1 to June 30 of the present fiscal year, individuals may be authorized to perform periods of equivalent instruction or duty in connection with the necessary administrative work of the various divisions. During this time, the number of officer periods shall not exceed twelve (12) for each Fleet Division or Aviation Division, and the number of enlisted men periods shall not exceed twenty-four (24).

Adopt Consolidated Drill

ANNOUNCEMENT of the adoption of a "consolidated drill" for inspection of Naval Reserve aviation units, has been made by the Bureau of Navigation.

In conducting inspections of Reserve aviation units last year, the Naval Reserve Inspection Board held two inspections, one at night of the personnel and instructional methods, and one in the afternoon of material and operations. Sometimes these inspections were on successive days, but sometimes they were widely separated.

This year, with the adoption of the "consolidated drill" feature, it appears to be possible to hold a complete inspection in one afternoon, including personnel, material and operations. This, it is hoped, will insure the presence of several members of the Board, in addition to the aviation member, except in a few cases where it will probably be necessary for the aviation member to conduct the operating inspection alone. Tentative plans have been worked out for this year's inspection whereby the single inspection can be made at all localities except Long Beach and Oakland.

In order to give individuals an opportunity to make arrangements for attending the inspection, it is the Bureau's intention to send the notification of inspection two months in advance. With such notice it is believed that a good attendance can reasonably be expected, even though it is necessary to hold the inspection on week days.

The consolidated inspection will begin at about 2 p.m., and the procedure is to be somewhat as follows: Inspection of personnel, after which men shift into working dress; while men shift clothes a general inspection of material and equipment will be made. Next, the operating inspection (servicing planes, etc., and flight operations), and finally, instruction classes conducted under the direction of the squadron and division commanders.

57 Reservists With Fleet

Fifty-seven Naval Reserve aviators have been ordered to one year's active duty with the Fleet. Of these, 36 are assigned to the Battle Fleet, while 21 go to the Scouting Fleet.

Rep. Hoffman's Statement

By REPRESENTATIVE HAROLD G. HOFFMAN,
Of New Jersey, Member of the Military Affairs Committee

SEVERAL weeks ago I pointed out what I felt to be the discrimination against Regular Army officers under the legislation enacted by the last Congress, which provided for the retirement of officers at the grade held by them during the World War. A glance at the list of promotions of officers to the highest rank held by them during the War leaves me more firmly convinced of the necessity of enacting legislation that I propose to introduce during the next session of Congress to promote all officers who have in the due course of promotion attained or passed their war-time rank to one additional rank upon retirement with the retired pay of the grade to which promoted.

The war-time rank of officers of all Corps and Arms of the Army now on the Active List, whose names begin with A, B, W, Y, and Z, and who were commissioned in the Regular Army from 1899 to 1916, is listed in the table given below. This data covers 479 officers and is taken from the Official Army Register of 1930. The Active List only is given in order to prevent any possible question arising as to the efficiency of these officers. Had they proven themselves inefficient during the war, they would have been eliminated by the annual Classification Board, or by the forced reduction and elimination of 1922. The table covers approximately 20 per cent of the Regular officers now on the Active List of the Army who were first commissioned between the dates specified and will be sufficient to proportionately show the unequal temporary promotions during the War. The Class of 1899 and those of 1900 were Majors, the other classes up to 1915 were Captains at the beginning of the War.

Is anything more needed to show that equal opportunity for promotion was not afforded the officers of the Regular Army and that injustice was suffered by many? Some on duty with troops and on certain detached duties were forgotten and were not promoted at all; humiliating, but they carried on. Others of high rank in their grade were promoted only to the rank of Major or Lieutenant Colonel, while their classmates and juniors in the Quartermaster Corps, Ordnance, Engineers, and those on duty at some Headquarters, were Colonels. Some of these officers had the unique experience of having officers, years their junior in service, promoted to Colonels in smaller Corps and then ordered to troops to command regiments in which the seniors were serving as Majors or Lieutenant Colonels. Imagine the feelings of a Lieutenant Colonel who entered the Service in 1900, as he found himself junior to, perhaps under the command of, a Colonel who entered in 1911? You didn't hear anything about it; they loyally performed their duty. It was the fortunes of war and they made no complaint. I will briefly state a few of the cases that have come to my attention:

Captain and Adjutant, 1911; his civilian clerk was appointed a major and promoted to lieutenant-colonel before the captain was appointed a major. This efficient officer was a major in command of a battalion at the close of the War.

Major, retired, on ROTC duty, received no war-time promotion at all.

Captain on detached duty, was forgotten and received no promotion at all. He is efficient.

Officers who were in the hospital on account of illness incurred through arduous service, were withdrawn from promotion and thus penalized through disability incurred in service.

The table discloses many others who were forgotten.

How must these Lieutenant Colonels of 1901 feel when they see such as this?

Officer, no prior service, commissioned a captain from the Third Training Camp, promoted to Major in March, Lieutenant Colonel in July, Colonel in October. Had he been a regular he would have remained

Delaware ROA Meets

Wilmington, Dela.—Capt. Richard W. Bond, Ord-Res., was reelected president of the Department of Delaware, Reserve Officers' Association of the United States, at its annual convention here.

Capt. Ross D. Pillsbury, CA-Res., was elected vice president; 1st Lt. Francis H. Roemer, CA-Res., secretary, and 1st Lt. Harper Silliman, Inf-Res., treasurer. The following were elected to the executive committee: Lt. Col. A. E. Tanner, CA-Res.; Lt. Col. J. Warner Reed, Inf-Res., and 1st Lt. H. C. Bailey, CA-Res.

Maj. Meade Wildrick, CAC, USA, on duty with the 2nd CA Dist., Organized Reserves, outlined briefly the coming season's training. Following Maj. Wildrick, there was an inspiring address by Maj. Gen. Amos A. Fries, CWS-Ret., former chief of the Chemical Warfare Service, who is now president of the ROTC Association. Lt. Col. Orvel Johnson, formerly secretary of the ROA and now secretary of the ROTC Association, also addressed the meeting. Following the speeches there was a smoker with refreshments.

a captain. Four officers, Captains of the Philippine Scouts up to November 20, 1918, nine days after the Armistice, on that date they were promoted from Captain to Colonel. The grades of major and lieutenant colonel didn't seem to mean a thing. They were demoted one month later, Dec. 19, 1918, back to Captain. Under the war-time rank bill they now become Colonels on the retired list, their war-time rank, as a reward for having earned this promotion during the War.

Officer served as Captain retired from April 11, 1917, to March 5, 1918. Promoted Captain to Lieutenant Colonel, QMC, March 5, 1918. Promoted Lieutenant Colonel to Colonel, QMC, May 25, 1918.

A Captain in March, a Colonel in May, is fairly good promotion. He now becomes a Colonel under the war-time rank legislation.

1st Lieutenant, retired, promoted from 1st Lieutenant to Major, Feb. 19, 1918, less than three months later he was promoted to Lieutenant colonel, May 11, 1918. One month later, June 14, 1918, he was promoted to Colonel, QMC. A 1st Lieutenant in February, a Colonel in June, could happen in the Quartermaster Corps, but not on duty with troops. This officer is now being promoted under the war-time rank legislation to his war-time rank of Colonel.

Another officer: 2nd Lieutenant, QMC, June 3, 1916; Major, Nov. 15, 1917; Lieutenant Colonel, Sept. 9, 1918; Colonel, May 5, 1919; demoted June 30, 1920.

Officer commissioned 1909: Major to Sept. 5, 1918; promoted to Lieutenant Colonel, Sept. 5, 1918; promoted to Colonel, Sept. 20, 1918.

Officer commissioned 1910: Major to Sept. 19, 1918; promoted to Lieutenant Colonel, Sept. 19, 1918; promoted to Colonel, Oct. 5, 1918.

Inequalities like these leave me firmly convinced of the necessity of legislation to equalize matters at this time to recognize the war-time services of those officers who were denied the opportunity for war-time promotion that was afforded some of their more fortunately located brother officers many years junior to them in service. The legislation I propose to introduce and press for passage this Session of Congress, will compensate for the past inequalities by providing that all officers of the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Coast Guard, Public Health Service, who have attained or have passed their war-time rank, will be promoted one additional rank upon retirement with the pay of the rank to which promoted.

Races To Aid Cathedral

TWENTY-SIX events, in which many noted American pilots will participate, will feature the All-Eastern States Air Races to be held at Mercer Airport, Trenton, N. J., Oct. 18 and 19. LANGLEY FIELD WINS

The Langley Field football team, in the first home game of the season, triumphed over Campbell College, a husky and hard-fighting squad of North Carolina, yesterday afternoon by the close score of 7 to 0, the only touchdown of the battle coming near the middle of the second quarter, when Kerr, who had gone in for Day at fullback, grabbed a kick near midfield and raced along the sidelines and over the last marker for the Aviators' solitary score of the day. It was a well-earned victory for Langley, as the Aviators outplayed the visitors throughout the contest, but somehow could not break through the stubborn defense of the "Tar Heel" outfit when a touchdown seemed certain.

It was the plucky defense of the Campbell College boys, as well as the equally strong defense of the Aviators, that was outstanding in the contest, although Langley threw away numerous chances to add to their score by a weakness of attack at critical moments. There was always a North Carolinian there to smear up the play and prevent any danger. Campbell College could do little with the Langley line and had no system of play that could baffle the alert Aviators, but when it came to defending their goal line, the visitors put up as pretty an exhibition as has been seen on the Langley Field grounds for some time.

Financial Digest

FURTHER weakness in the grain markets and reports of continued uncertainty in Berlin apparently had no direct market effect during the short session at the end of last week, but news of this kind, while it represents only a part of the whole picture, very probably has a deterring influence on the minds of potential buyers, states a recent stock letter of the E. A. Pierce and Co.

"In connection with the weakness in the oils," the letter states, "there are rumors of a general cut in crude oil prices which may have their origin in recent reductions in retail gasoline prices. It is also likely that earnings of the oil companies this year may furnish some cause for disappointment, as we believe that previous expectations may not be realized.

"Industrial averages are around the June lows, which may or may not carry significance, but more important, we think, is the apparent fact that substantial liquidation of long stock has come into the market, a condition which ordinarily does not respect preconceived ideas of resistance points or levels where support should make its appearance. It decidedly looks as if this liquidation will continue until it has been absorbed in the natural way without concerted effort artificially to stabilize the market. Such a process is, of course, painful while it is under way, but in the long run it undoubtedly would be better, we think, to have the market thoroughly liquidated and to settle itself upon a base from which it will be able, without artificial stimulant, to respond to news of business improvement when such news makes its appearance.

"During the year there have been two major efforts to advance the market on the inaccurate theory of near-term business improvement. Each effort, instead of strengthening the situation, resulted in the creation of a weakened technical position which left the way wide open to liquidation and a series of substantial declines."

ARMY WINS OPENER

West Point, N. Y.—With the Warner system working effectively, though somewhat crudely in spots, the 1930 edition of the Army football team swept up Boston College last Saturday to win the opening game of the season. The score was 39 to 0.

Behind a practically veteran line, Maj. Sasse, new Army head coach, introduced a number of flashy backs who seem likely to carry the Army to victory this season.

In Ken Fields, former University of Illinois star and forward passer extraordinary, Cy Letzeller, ex-Carnegie Tech ball-toter, and Ed. Herb, formerly of Colgate, the Army has as fine a nucleus for attack as could be desired. Besides these, Elliott, Bowman, Frantz and Glattey, all performed well.

The new Army style of play, full of double and triple passes, fakes and reverses, completely baffled the New Englanders, and only in the second period, when the Army subs were thrown in, did Boston U. threaten to score.

The line-up:

Army (39)	Boston U. (8)
Carlmark	L.E. McCullough
Price	L.T. Knowles
Humber	L.G. Harrington

Camp Devens Construction

AS A part of the Army housing program for which Congress has provided funds, the construction work at Camp Devens, Mass., has made, and is making very satisfactory progress, nearly a million dollars worth having been completed and an approximately equal amount being now under way.

Two barracks and some service buildings have been completed, a hospital and officers' quarters are now in course of construction, and ground is about to be broken for the building of other quarters for officers.

The first step in the rehabilitation of Camp Devens, viz., the construction of an Infantry barracks for a battalion and a building for a headquarters building was taken at the close of the year 1927, since which time the work has been practically continuous.

In 1928, the sum of $300,000 was appropriated for a new hospital, but before this was started, a change affecting the personnel strength of Camp Devens was made, and this necessarily reduced the size of the proposed hospital to one costing $135,000, thus effecting a savings in the cost of the project and the diversion of such savings to other necessary construction at the post.

In the 1929 appropriation act provided funds for another barracks and this building, for use by an Infantry battalion, was completed in June at a cost of approximately $300,000. The sum of $70,000 was also allotted for a bakery and a stable, which were completed this past Summer.

The 1929 Act provided funds for the construction of one field officers' quarters, ten Company officers' quarters, and two non-commissioned officers' quarters. The following appropriation Act furnished $150,000 for quar-

Trophies Awarded Wash. NG

HEADQUARTERS Detachment, 248th Coast Artillery, Washington National Guard, was recently announced as the winner of the "Brig. Gen. Paul H. Weyrauch Trophy" for the training year 1930.

This trophy is awarded yearly by the Adjutant General to that unit of the Washington National Guard maintaining the highest degree of efficiency during the training year, based upon reports submitted to him by the Federal instructors and field inspectors, and upon data obtained from the permanent records of the units. Only those units required to qualify in small arms firing are eligible to compete for the trophy.

Another award, the Maj. Clift Andrus Trophy, was made to Battery A, 146th Field Artillery, Washington National Guard, for the year 1929-30.

This trophy was presented by Maj. Andrus to the Military Department, State of Washington, for award annually to the battery of train of field artillery receiving the highest standing for the full year.

ters for 12 company officers, and $100,000 for an equal number of non-commissioned officers' quarters. The current year's Act allots $200,000 for quarters for two field officers, ten company officers, and four non-commissioned officers.

Construction of one field officers' quarters and 22 company officers' quarters was begun on March 1, and these are about one-fourth completed.

The work on the remainder of the construction at Camp Devens as authorized and provided for by Congress is about to start, including quarters for two field officers, ten company officers, and 18 non-coms, contracts for which were awarded on Sept. 15, and these latter should be completed by the middle of next August.

All of the quarters will be sturdily built and all reasonable conveniences will be included, the commissioned officers' quarters being two stories in height and those for non-commissioned officers being of one story. Both types will be of brick. The officers' quarters will, with a view to economy and convenience, be equipped with electric refrigerators and automatic stokers, while those for non-coms will have thermostatic heating control with automatic blowers.

The two-storied buildings, which will house commissioned officers, will be of the New England colonial type of architecture, with sloping roofs of slate, and columned porticoes. These homes will be on the center-hall plan, with the living room on the right of the approach and the dining room on the left.

An open fire-place will adorn the good-sized living room; the kitchen and the dining room will be connected by a pantry and cupboard. A hall will extend from the front door to the rear of the house, and there will be an inclosed porch on the right side of the home.

In the upstairs portion of the field officers' quarters, there will be four bedrooms and two baths, while for the company officers' houses there will be three bedrooms, a dressing room, and baths. All the rooms in both cases will be corner rooms and each room will have three or four windows. Shower equipment will be installed in the baths.

Enclosed sleeping porches are provided for, these being located over the down-stair porches, and there will be built-in-garages occupying part of the cellar space and which will be separated from the other parts of the cellar by fire-proof doors and tile walling.

The ceilings in these quarters will be nine feet, six inches high on the first floor and one foot less in height upstairs. All flooring will be red oak.

The quarters for non-coms will each have two bedrooms, a living room, a kitchen, and enclosed sleeping porch. These homes will be about 32 feet square and will have a porch with cast iron railings across the front. The living room will be on the left of the house and the kitchen immediately in the rear of it with a small room in between which may be used for serving meals. The bedrooms will be on the right of the building.

Obituaries

death of Mr. Guggenheim. It is a loss to the country of one of our outstanding citizens whose patriotism has been very evident."

And the Chief of the Bureau of Naval Aeronautics, Rear Adm. William A. Moffatt, who expressed his sorrow with the following:

"Mr. Guggenheim's death is a great loss. He had done much for aviation. His contributions, especially his foundation fund, have made its advancement much more rapid than otherwise would have been possible."

Brig. Gen. William P. Burnham, USA, ret., credited with firing the first American gun during the World War, is dead. He commanded the 82nd Division overseas.

He died Sept. 28, in San Francisco, where he had lived since his retirement in 1924. He was born in Scranton, Pa., 70 years ago.

After the signing of the Armistice, Gen. Burnham was a member of the Inter-ally Military Commission and later was military attache to Greece. He was decorated with the Croix de Guerre (France), the Order of Companion of the Bath (England), and the medal of Military Merit (Greece).

The shot for which Gen. Burnham became noted, was fired in March, 1915, long before America entered hostilities.

The incident occurred while he was commanding an Infantry regiment at San Juan, Porto Rico. The German supply ship Odenwald attempted to leave the harbor without authority. Burnham ordered a shot fired across her bow. The shot brought her back into harbor.

Mrs. Jacob B. Rawles, widow of Brig. Gen. Jacob B. Rawles, USA, passed away at the age of 90, at her home in San Francisco, Calif., Sept. 21.

She is survived by three children, Charles S. Rawles, Elizabeth B. Rawles, and William G. Rawles, and by three grandchildren, Ethel R. Miller, wife of Maj. Alvin C. Miller, USA, Philip F. Rawles and William T. Rawles.

Interment was at the National Cemetery, Presidio of San Francisco.

Funeral services for Brig. Gen. Arthur W. Yates, USA, ret., who died at Stanford University Hospital, Calif., Sept. 25, 1930, were held at Arlington Cemetery Oct. 3, the services being conducted by Chap. Albert F. Vaughan, of Ft. Myer. The honorary pallbearers were Maj. Gen. William D. Connor, USA; Brig. Gen. Francis H. Pope, USA; Brig. Gen. William E. Horton, USA, ret.; Brig. Gen. Louis H. Bash, USA; Col. C. F. Humphrey, USA, and Maj. W. R. White. Full military honors were included in the rites.

Col. Edwin P. Andrus, USA, who served as an officer of the Army in all of the wars in which this country engaged since 1875, died Sept. 21, at Walter Reed Hospital, Washington, D. C., at 78 years of age.

Col. Andrus was born in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Nov. 17, 1851. He entered the Military Academy from New York July 1, 1870; commissioned 2nd lieutenant, 5th Cav., June 16, 1875; promoted 1st lieutenant March 29, 1883; captain of cavalry Feb. 11, 1893; major July 15, 1902; lieutenant colonel March 23, 1909; colonel March 3, 1911; retired at his own request, after 40 years' service, Dec. 31, 1912.

At the outbreak of the World War, although Col. Andrus was on the retired list, he was called again into active service and placed in charge of the prison camp at Ft. Ogelthorpe. Later he assumed command of Ft. Thomas, Ky., where, in spite of his advanced years, he administered affairs in a manner which drew praise from the War Department.

He served in Porto Rico and in the Philippine Islands. Among his achievements was the construction of the first road across the Big Horn Mountains in Wyoming. An automobile road, heavily traveled, now follows part of the route which Col. Andrus first located.

Col. Andrus is survived by a widow, Mrs. Marie Josephine Andrus; two sons, Cowles Andrus, of Boise, Idaho, and Maj. Clift Andrus, of the 13th FA, Hawaii, and one brother, the Rev. Johnathan Cowles Andrus, of Albany, N. Y.

Funeral services were held at the Ft.

Myer Chapel, Sept. 30. The service was conducted by Chap. Vaughan.

Honorary pallbearers were: Maj. Gen. Eben Swift, ret.; Maj. Gen. Wm. A. Mann, ret.; Gen. Tasker H. Bliss, ret.; Col. Alexander Rodgers, ret.; Maj. Thomas S. McCaleb, ret.; Maj. Gen. D. C. Shanks, ret.; Gen. J. M. Jenkins, ret.; Col. Augustus Maccom, ret.; Col. H. La T. Cavanaugh, Cav.; Maj. C. A. Selleck, FA; Capt. Evelyn Baldwin, USA, and Mr. A. K. Gilman. Interment was with full military honors in Arlington National Cemetery.
